MORE to COME

Over the past 25 years, Columbine has framed relationships with its students around memorable events. Students drew closer to each other and to Columbine when they became Jeffco champs for the first time in 1974, watched their faculty battle the Denver Broncos in a basketball game in 1974, graduated their first senior class in 1975, introduced freshmen into CHS in 1986, won their first Physics Bowl and witnessed a car erupt in flames in 1991, cheered Homecoming parades down Pierce Street until 1994, constructed a new school in 1996, and won state championships in baseball, mock trial, newspaper, poms, soccer and basketball. These experiences will live on forever in the history of the school and the memories of its students. And just wait, there is...

Silver Anniversary

A 25th anniversary. That's 25 years of outstanding academics, 25 years of superior athletics, and 25 years of dramatic change.

When Columbine was built, the surrounding area was vastly different than it is today. There was no Southwest Plaza, no Clement Park, and C-470 had yet to open.

CHS opened as a year-round school, with the entire student body never in session at the same time. In 1985, the present schedule was put into place, creating what current principal Frank DeAngelis calls, "a unity that had been lacking." Mr. DeAngelis has worked at Columbine since 1979.

One of the most easily recognizable changes Columbine experienced was the remodeling of the original building that was completed in 1995. "We went from a building with moveable walls and no doors, to an outstanding facility," said Mr. DeAngelis.

After all this, the question is, where do we go from here? All we know for sure is: there's more to come . . .

MORE THAN MONOTONY

Students escape uniformity through diversity in activity

Each of us is so different. We are filled with unique thoughts, beliefs, goals, and talents. Our diversity shines through in our everyday lives. The classes we take, the activities we participate in, and the people we meet all help shape us into distinct individuals. The hardest challenge we encounter is recognizing that we can be different. We must open our minds and realize that our strengths come from our dissimilarities. Once we realize this, we can use our strengths to educate others, sharing what we know and think, further expanding our lives. We must continue to grow and change as we look ahead toward our future years. The more diversity we experience, in others as well as ourselves, the better off we will be. Each of us is so different. We should be proud of that. We should strive for diversity, creating a world that is more than monotony.

Up Close AND PERSONABLE

Is there a certain memorable moment of time spent with friends that you instantly remember? Many students dug deep into their memories to answer this question.

Some students remembered moments from camps and tournaments. Freshman Christi Eveleth recalled the time at cheerleading camp when her team "won a bid to nationals!" Sophomores Samantha Haviland and Stefania Ubowski spoke of "showing up to Forensics tournaments in PJ's and Princess Leia buns."

"God gives us our relatives–thank God we can choose our friends." -Ethel Watts Mumford

Outdoor experiences also brought friends closer. Senior Jesse Newberry recalled when he and his Young Life group "climbed a 13,000 foot mountain." Junior Ben Price remembers when he and his motorcycle gang were "riding motor scooters around Lake Tahoe." Freshman Katie Hanson enjoyed "going to the Rockies game" where she cheered on the team with her pals.

Others shared memories of times out with friends. Sophomore Kelly McIntosh remembered going bowling with her friends and "getting a strike on a granny bowl!" Senior Caleb Smeltzer looked back upon when he and Senior Anthony Zeman were in his car and "it caught on fire." Junior Katie Kompinski enjoyed "going to see the band 311" with her friends.

Whether the moments were traditional or out of the ordinary, students enjoyed sharing times with friends.

Cheer all Year

THAT'S THE SPIRIT

Way to go, Rebels! Students displayed their school spirit and pride every day by attending a variety of school activities and events.

Some students attended games for the excitement of the competition. Sophomore Alana Knudsen stated, "I like going to sporting events because they're exciting." Junior Melanie King attended "football games because everyone is way out of control!"

Senior Jason Fraser enjoyed "any games against Chatfield because they are our rivals."

While games and competitions attracted spectators because of the field action, students also enjoyed the events as excuses for spending time with their friends. Senior Lauren Montgomery went to football games because "everybody goes." She said, "I like to hang out with all my friends." Sophomore Kelly Casperson recalled going to "football and basketball games because a lot of people go and you have the best time."

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm." -Ralph Waldo Emerson

Students also supported the school by going to musical events. Junior Heather Dinkel explained, "I really enjoy the musicals a lot because of all the hard work everyone puts into them, and then being able to share it with the audience."

Some students did not limit their support to the most popular events. Senior Brian Stanek commented, "I'll go to anything because everything is fun."

Got Food?

IT DOES A BODY GOOD

Food is the human body's only source of energy, and who needs more energy than a busy teenager? Regardless of their activities, a quick snack was always on students' minds.

Finding a restaurant that fit everyone's taste wasn't always easy. Some enjoyed sit-down restaurants, like Senior Toby Steinman, who loved "Old Chicago because they have pool tables and pizza."

Freshman Samantha Roman shared, "Red Robin is my favorite place to eat because it's fun." Junior Julie Schwab commented, "I like Applebee's because it's the late-night spot."

Others agreed on faster options. Freshman Grant Taylor's favorite spot was Burger King, as he explained, "Whoppers are the best!"

Struggling with their busy schedules, students tried to find time to eat routinely. Sophomore Briar Goldberg was successful, declaring, "I always eat three meals a day." Busy schedules, however, often interfered with routine eating. Senior Lissa Gallen admitted "I only eat one meal a day because I'm so busy and my work gives me free food." Freshman John Spencer stated, "When I'm busy, I only eat one meal a day. When I'm not busy, I eat more."

Decisions about eating were made easier with attitudes such as Sophomore Emily Jacobson's. She exclaimed, "When and where I eat is irrelevant, as long as I get the fuel I need to make it through another day."

No Guts NO GLORY

Whether rock climbing, mountain biking, or rollerblading, students participated in sports that were unique when compared to more traditional forms of athleticism.

Rock climbing was one way students challenged themselves. Junior Jeff Dimanna commented, "I rock climb so I can challenge myself both physically and mentally."

Sophomore Micki Herndon explained that she enjoyed rock climbing because she liked "to set goals and then be able to reach them." Junior Chris Clary expressed, "I rock climb to test myself and to see how long I can hang on that ledge before I fall off."

Mountain biking also created excitement for students. Junior Layne Newton exclaimed, "The exhilaration of almost falling off a cliff is an adrenaline rush." Junior Adam Todd remarked, "I like to mountain bike because it allows me and my friends to get together away from school." Junior Chris Jung, who competed, recalled, "I mountain bike to win free stuff and for the adrenaline rush I get."

"Man consists of two parts: his mind and his body, only the body has more fun." -Woody Allen

Rollerblading was another popular sport among students. Junior Tyler Pearce said, "It gives me something to do and keeps me out of trouble." Other students rollerbladed simply because they found it less demanding than other sports. Sophomore Trevor Pousson stated, "I rollerblade because you don't have to go to practices."

Be Afraid

BE VERY AFRAID

Phobia: a persistent fear of a specific object or situation. While some CHS students didn't always admit to their fears, almost everyone had a little something they were afraid of.

Two of the most common fears people suffered from were ophidiophobia, the fear of snakes, and arachnaphobia, the fear of spiders. Junior Katie Williams explained, "When I see a spider, I stomp it to death." Junior Kim Wollenberg feared something slightly different. "I'm afraid of eels or anything snakelike, but mostly the eels."

"My fear is my substance, and probably the best part of me."
-Franz Kafka

What were some other things that made people freeze up and get a little tense? For Freshman Chandra Marshall, it was not knowing what lurked in hidden corners. She exclaimed, "I'm afraid of the dark!" Freshmen Jessica Friedman and Chantel Downs said their biggest fear was needles. Freshman Anna Dismang didn't like to take out the garbage at night.

Senior Katheryn Mason's phobia was death. She believed, "It is very scary knowing you will never see your living friends and relatives again." Still, some people were afraid of seemingly trivial things. Junior Alex Dudik revealed, "I'm afraid E.T. will come and get me." Sophomore Samuel Granillo said, "My biggest fear is people's smelly feet." Sophomore Dara Ferguson also feared feet. She declared, "People's feet are not allowed to touch me."

Dirt don't Hurt

RUB-A-DUB-DUB

Though often just a routine habit, personal hygiene sometimes became an unusual method for students to express their personal styles.

Some students obsessed over their oral hygiene. Senior Brett Honeycutt described, "I carry a toothbrush and a small tube of toothpaste with me everywhere I go." Senior Abby Hoganson also admitted, "I have to carry dental floss with me at all times." Sophomore Amy Ortega confessed that when dental floss was not accessible, she used "hair for floss."

Sophomore Lauren Johnson described that, in order to improve her personal hygiene, she insisted on shaving her legs two times a day. Sophomore Jennie Plato had to brush her teeth for three minutes, three times a day.

Other students didn't take as much time perfecting their hygiene habits. Freshman Evan Todd admitted, "I have never, ever washed my gym suit." Junior Amber Burgess exclaimed, "Instead of using a piece of cotton, I use bobby pins to clean out my ears."

"Americans may have no identity, but they do have wonderful teeth." -Jean Baudrillard

Junior Chris Cowles described another strange hygiene habit. He explained, "I use scissors to clip my toenails!" Senior T.J. Manuello stated, "The only time I have ever used dental floss is when I'm at the dentist and they do it for me."

Finally, Senior Kristin King confessed her strange habit. "I pick my nose when I drive! Hey, admit it, we all do!"

Cheap Thrills

BORED? GAMES!

Pursuing games and hobbies seemed to be at the top of students' lists for having fun, whether they enjoyed outdoor or indoor activities.

Freshman Jill Shakowski enjoyed playing board games. She exclaimed, "I like the board game Sorry. It is a lot of fun. I love knocking people off the board." Senior Jeremy Curzio shared a common opinion about playing one particular board game. He admitted, "I love playing the game Monopoly because, for once, I actually have money!"

"No human being is innocent, but there is a class of innocent human behavior called games." -W.H. Auden

Going to the mountains was one of Senior Ryan Snyder's favorite activities. He commented, "I love to ski at Loveland because it's hassle-free skiing." Freshman Emily Gardner exclaimed, "I love to ski at Winter Park because of all the beautiful scenery."

Other students enjoyed collecting as a hobby. Freshman Daniel Yager admitted, "I love to collect baseball cards." Senior Travis Smith stated, "I enjoy collecting shells."

Senior Ryan Ray admitted, "I like playing frisbee at lunch with all of my friends." Senior Holly Sykora shared her interest as she exclaimed, "I like to play frisbee golf."

Sophomore Salli Melfi enjoyed performing arts and exclaimed, "I like to act, sing, and dance."

Senior Chris LaPlante admitted he enjoyed doing anything that would bring a smile to his face. He exclaimed, "I like to go tubing because it is a bowl of laughs."

Great Outdoors

CALL OF THE WILD

The outdoors served as a stage where mother nature conducted the melodies of challenge and personal triumph and students got the chance to play along.

For Junior Ben Lausten, enjoyment last summer came in a strange way. "I was buried up to my head one day at Chatfield Reservoir," he recalled.

While many made use of the outdoors by simply lounging around, others used nature to test their skills. Junior Lindsay Williams stated, "In the summer, I enjoy rock climbing and whitewater rafting. In the winter, I love to ski and snowshoe."

Other students spent time up in the mountains. "I really enjoy driving in my boat and hiking in national forests. I also enjoy looking for wildlife," stated Sophomore Andrew Lagerborg.

"Our task is not to rediscover nature but to remake it." -Raoul Vaneigem

Summertime in the outdoors was sometimes spent in far-away lands, offering unique experiences. Senior Marisa DeMull remembered, "I went to the Amazons this summer. We went to the zoo in this small town that had a cage full of snakes. We jumped in the cage, and I held an eight-foot anaconda around my neck."

Students that enjoyed nature agreed that outdoor experiences were both rewarding and fun-filled. "I enjoy playing soccer during the fall because there is nothing like going outside on a crisp fall morning and breathing in the clean, fresh air," stated Sophomore Seth Biggi.

Stand Out

OR SIT DOWN

Walking down Columbine's busy halls, one may not have noticed what was hidden behind the clothes of certain unique students: creative tattoos and piercings.

For most students, piercings and tattoos were too daring or painful. Freshman Melissa Conrad said, "Body piercings and tattoos are cool, but I would never get either." Others simply didn't like them. Freshman Tami Knowles described tattoos as "sick and wrong."

"The one thing the world will never have enough of is the outrageous."
-Salvador Dali

For those willing to experiment, tattoos and piercings were seen as a way to express themselves. Senior Brian Reilly described his tattoo: "It's my name with two shamrocks because I'm Irish."

Many students had pierced ears, but some had gone a little further. Nose, eyebrow, lip, and tongue rings were some of the more prominent types. Freshman Lindsey Wells believed, "I have a lip ring because I'm an alien princess."

Some students planned to eventually get a tattoo or piercing, but had to wait, either because of money or because they needed their parents' permission. Looking into his future, Sophomore John Fleming explained, "I'd definitely get a tattoo, I would get a giant red flame on my arm."

In the end, it came down to whether or not students felt comfortable expressing themselves in a unique way. As Freshman Elizabeth Lee put it, "It's their body, their life." ~ Megan Minger

Free at Last

ANOTHER 48 HOURS

After long weeks of homework and tests, students looked forward to stress-free weekends when they could relax and have fun.

For excitement, some students ventured out of the suburbs into downtown Denver. Senior Natalie Gardner explained, "One time I went to this cute French restaurant where everyone spoke French. I didn't understand them, but it was so much fun." Junior Chris Behner exclaimed, "I like to 'get busy' in Larimer Square with my friends."

Senior Greg Buhrer liked to go to "the Mayan" because it showed "different movies than regular movie theatres."

Sophomore Erika Dendorfer said, "When my friends and I go downtown, we like to go skating and rollerblading around the park at night." Sophomore Jennifer Jones and Freshmen Jenny Tindall and Tiffany Spevak stated, "When we go downtown, we usually go to Elitch's."

"Always strive to excel, but only on weekends."
-Richard Rorty

Some students preferred more creative methods of spending their weekend nights. Freshman Christine Markert recalled, "I played capture the flag in a park with my youth group." Freshman Ellen Prommersberger stated, "I bake cookies in the middle of the night with my friends."

Whatever students did, weekends allowed a short break from weekly schedules filled with school, homework, and extracurricular activities.

Easily Amused

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT

Whether going to a favorite concert, hanging out with friends, or seeing a movie, students entertained themselves to escape the pressures of everyday life.

Music hit the top of the charts for Freshmen Laura Hornbaker and Kerry O'Meara. They stated, "We like alternative music because we enjoy listening to all of the cool bands." Junior Jason Brown also pursued music for his entertainment pleasure. He admitted, "I love listening to crazy bands, especially the band Gwar."

"Life is something to do when you can't get to sleep." ~Fran Lebowitz

Live concerts were one of Senior Clark Taylor's favorite types of entertainment. He exclaimed, "The band 311 at Red Rocks was awesome, but I especially enjoyed the opening band, Spearhead."

Having fun with friends was what Freshman Becca Goodwin enjoyed for entertainment. She said, "I love to have fun hanging out with my friends and one advantage is I don't have to spend any money."

According to many, going to the movies was the best entertainment around. Senior Nate Kugler stated, "Happy Gilmore is awesome because it makes me laugh."

Thriller movies were what Freshman Shannon Eberly enjoyed. She exclaimed, "Twister was great because of the edge-of-your-seat suspense." Freshman Jamie Munkeby agreed and stated, "Event Horizon was such a thriller that I shook with fear!"

Daily Grind

SAME OL' SAME OL'

While many routines of everyday teenage life were taken for granted, some were unique to students' differing lifestyles.

Breakfast is a great way to start off the day. Sophomore Yoni Mekuria stated, "Every morning I eat a bowl of Captain Crunch for breakfast." Freshman Beth Lavely added, "Every day I have to eat breakfast or my whole day is unorganized."

Noting her routine, Senior Emily Kyler stated, "I spend my mornings putting on my clothes, curling my hair, putting on my shoes and then leaving for school." Sophomore Emily Paletta said, "Every day I put on the same necklace."

On the other hand, many students' morning habits were different from the norm. Junior Zach Cartaya said, "I wake up, eat an Eggo waffle, and walk out to the porch to get the paper." While Freshman Greg Barnes explained, "When I get up, I turn on the shower, so by the time I'm done going to the bathroom it's warm."

"Things are strange until you get used to them."
-John Lennon

Some students had patterns to their habits. Sophomore Lindsey Neam said, "I put my right earring in before my left one." Freshman Rusty McPhail added, "I wear the same hat everyday."

Many teenagers went through the same routines every morning, yet there were still some that would run astray from the norm. Junior Jessica Palin stated, "I have no routines. Every day I do something different."

Camped Out

PASS THE S'MORES

Although most students eagerly anticipated the end of school in May, there were always the select few that were committed to school-related activities during the summer.

The Rebelations Yearbook staff, Student Senators, Peer Counselors, and the Cheer and Pom squads went to camps last summer to practice, plan, and prepare for the upcoming year.

"Hello Muddah. Hello Faddah. Here I am at Camp Granada..." -Alan Sherman

The Cheer and Pom squads went to the University of Colorado to compete against other high schools and perfect their routines for the new year. Senior Pom Erica Mead recalled, "The squad worked really hard on team unity and showed a lot of dedication while, in the meantime, friendships grew."

The Student Senators spent a week at Camp Wondervu planning for upcoming school activities. Junior Senator Kelly Dickson replied, "We set up many goals for the year at the retreat."

In addition, eight yearbook editors spent a week at Colorado College in Colorado Springs designing layouts and creating a theme for this year's yearbook. As Senior Editor Alicia Rippen stated, "At camp this year we worked together really well to produce some awesome ideas for the book."

Even during vacation, when free time was a priority and responsibility was out of the question, many students didn't mind spending their summer working to make the 97-98 school year the best.

TECH@NOLOGY.COM

As 90's technology became mainstream, students used pagers and the Internet to stay connected to each other, their friends, and their families.

Pagers became a popular alternative to playing answering machine tag as a way for people to contact one another. Junior Andy Milam used a pager because, "It's a good way for my friends to keep in contact with me." Senior Justin Boehm had his pager as a precaution against the unfortunate. "In case there is ever an emergency, my parents can get a hold of me."

One of the other ways students kept in contact with the world was through the expanded World Wide Web access in the LMC.

While most of those who utilized the library's speedy fiber-optic Web line were casual users, a few were Internet addicts like Freshman Jason Brehm. He said, "I spend my lunch period and my free period on the Internet, and come to the library before school. I spend a lot of time in here on the web."

"To err is human, but to really foul things up requires a computer."
-Anonymous

Other users, like Freshman Jayson Gitt, used the Internet to gather information on "cars, sports teams, and stuff like that."

Ms. Keating, the library media specialist, insisted that students use the web because, "there is probably more information in it than any single source in the world." Others, like Freshman Kristen Schoenhoff, used it because, "It's quick and it's kind of fun for a change."

Sweat is Sweet

FIT AS A FIDDLE

For many students, exercise means sweating and hard work. For others, it means feeling healthy and having a great time.

Many students chose to exercise by playing their favorite sport. Junior Tyson Miklebost explained, "I exercise by playing soccer." Junior Jake Cram stated, "I play tennis to stay in top-shape and crush my opponents."

"The only athletic sport I ever mastered was backgammon." -Douglas Jerrold

Students were able to keep variety in their workouts by playing different types of sports. Sophomore Matt Wells expressed, "I play baseball, basketball, and tennis because I enjoy the challenges of them." Junior Pom Kelly Dickson explained how she chose to keep in shape. She said, "I like to practice with my squad, because it's fun and is really good exercise."

Other students chose a humorous approach to staying in shape. Junior Mike Paavilainen enjoyed exercising as a way to "look good for the girls." Senior Katie Davis liked to "bench press refrigerators and squat garbage trucks in addition to running triathlons" to stay in shape and healthy.

Some students chose to exercise just to accomplish something positive. Junior Megan Kotter confesses, "I exercise only because I feel like I did something constructive, and so I'm not lazy most of the time."

No matter how students chose to exercise, the key seemed to be picking an activity that they enjoyed.

Boo-Boos

STUCK ON BAND-AIDS

Ouch! The snap of a bone breaking. The ache of a pulled muscle. Several Columbine students experienced these feelings of pain and injuries.

Accidents that resulted in injuries often occurred during sports. Senior Alysia Ahlin recalled, "I stuck my foot under the uneven bar at a gymnastics meet and it clamped down. My foot turned into a bloody mess!"

Sophomore Caitlin Whitney exclaimed, "During my soccer game, I slammed into another girl and my knee snapped. I tore a ligament and had crutches for a week." Freshman Mike Rotole shared, "I broke my foot while playing basketball."

Students were also injured outside of sports, as Junior Ryan Pool revealed. "I was camping when I ran over my leg with a four-wheeler." Sophomore Joe Murillo added, "A dog on a leash jumped at my neck. The dog bit my arm and I had to go to the hospital so they could sew my skin back on."

"The art of life is the art of avoiding pain."
-Thomas Jefferson

Junior Mollie Weksler remembered when she tore her ACL "by tripping over a ball in gym class." Sophomore Loralyn Miyashiro commented, "I ran into a heating vent and got stitches in my leg." Sophomore Jenny Davis claimed, "I was riding my bike and I stood on the seat. I fell off and broke my arm in half!"

Injuried students may have been forced to sit out of some activities, but they still had to get to class on time.

Rain Reigns

H2O MY GOODNESS

Rain, showers, pools, oceans, lakes. All of these have one important thing in common: water. Water is an important part of everyone's life, including the members of the CHS student body.

While some students loved water for its physical beauty, others liked it for the fun created around it. Senior Andrea Graham explained, "I like to run around outside and play in the gutters when it's raining." Sophomore Jamie Norwood stated, "I love going to go swimming in my pool with my friends when it is really hot out."

"Water, taken in moderation cannot hurt anybody." Mark Twain

Besides fun, water is also crucial for certain necessities in life. For Senior Brian Reilly, water was part of a summer job. He said, "I love to teach cute little kids how to swim. It just gives me a good feeling knowing I'm teaching them something they will use for the rest of their lives." Senior Jessica Nuncio expressed another need for water, "I drink eight glasses of water a day because that's what water is here for plus it is good for you."

Other favorite water-oriented pastimes took place at local lakes and beaches. Junior Derek Lesmann claimed, "I love going to the beach with all my friends, especially the ladies." Junior Ryan Ishino added, "I like to go jet skiing. It's great to go fast and out of control."

No matter what the purpose, from playing in the rain to washing faces, water found a way to interact in every student's life. Freshman Julie Amen summed it up, saying, "I love water. It is so fascinating, and it is used for so many different things."

No Kidding

YOUNG AT HEART

Although students displayed differences in their styles, interests, and personalities, a common sentiment that every student felt was that of nostalgia for the childhood each had left behind.

Many students missed specific experiences. Junior Jeni LaPlante stated, "I miss getting to go on those cool kiddie rides at Elitch's because you could be under three feet tall." Senior Jen Burton stated, "I miss playing on a swingset in the rain and then coming home to get cleaned up."

"Children have neither a past nor a future. Thus they enjoy the present-which seldom happens to us."
-Jean de laBruyere

Other students agreed that they missed some of the more common aspects of childhood, like sleeping at any time of the day. Senior Julie Hammer told, "I miss the naptime in kindergarten." Sophomore Steve Wild commented, "I miss being able to sleep until three p.m."

While students pleasantly remembered their days of no responsibilities, some told more interesting stories. Freshman Devon Adams explained, "When I was five, my sister put me in one of her bikinis, stuffed it with kleenex, and made me run around in it during her thirteenth birthday." Senior Cameron Meldrum recalled, "I had to dress up like Michael Jackson when I was five at a family reunion."

In addition, Junior Andy Anderson remembered "the chunky milk in elementary school." Freshman Marty Layton said, "I'll never forget when I ran into a boat on my bike!"

THIS IS HOMECOMING

Columbine's halls filled with Rebel spirit and pride during this year's Homecoming.

Spirit Week kicked off on Monday with flowered shirts and flip-flops for Tropical Day. Tuesday, bell bottoms and blue eye-shadow were attire for Seventies Day.

On Wednesday's Army Day, Senior Jen Evans remarked, "This was by far the best spirit day. It seemed as if our whole school was in camoflauge and combat boots."

The week ended with Backwards Day on Thursday, and Class Spirit Day on Friday. Junior Kelly Burgesser commented, "This year's spirit week was more unique than previous years; and overall, there was great participation."

On Friday, the gym was packed for the Homecoming Assembly. It began with a parade of fall sports participants. Students from each class took part in a game of stuffing marshmallows into their mouths and drinking pop to the oldies tune, "Roxanne." Junior Annie Ford talked of her . . .

Later that night, crowds packed the stands for a cold and rainy football game against Columbine's rival, the Chatfield Chargers.

Senior Captain Mike Kraft commented on the excitement of the game. "This game was huge for us, due to the fact that it was the Homecoming game, and we played our rivals." Columbine prevailed, 15-7.

On Saturday night, many students attended the traditional Homecoming Dance. The commons area was brightly decorated with the theme, "Around The World." Freshmen Mike Rotole commented, "I had so much fun. I didn't think there would be that many people there."

MORE THAN A MASQUERADE

Students make their voices heard through performance

We have an obligation not to turn out the same. We need to stand out, speak out, sing out the fact that we are here and we are different. Whether we have the solo, the lead, the off-beat note or the non-speaking part, we put on our laces and our rags, our dress shoes and dance slippers. We slip on the perfect masks and strut, stride or shuffle forth to present to the crowds our performing faces, honed for the occasion. But we cannot remain distant from our own display, unmoved by our own music, separate from our own song. When the costumes are removed, we must retain some of what we have been and given to others. There are real faces beneath the flawless masks, unyielding substance under the wispy remnant of style. We carry on the actions of performance in our real lives, practice the perfect steps of the dance as we move on in the real world and reveal that the entertainment we provided touched ourselves and was m◎re than a masquerade. ~ Sarah "◎tto" Marxhausen

Inspired by Choir

Compiled by Tracy Crowley

The Women's Chamber Choir is made up of sophomore, junior and senior girls. It is the level of choir right below Concert Choir. Our director, the extremely talented Lee Andres, does a wonderful job helping us to sing our best. We practice every day and have one concert per quarter. I think the music department plays a huge role in the school's motto to "Stretch for Excellence," because the job we do really makes the school stand out. In Women's Chamber Choir, it's pretty casual, and we enjoy singing and laughing. Overall, we all have a really good time together.

Concert Choir is made up of a lot of extremely gifted students, both junior and senior men and women. Under the direction of Mr. Leeland Andres, I think that this year's Concert Choir is among the very best ever. Concert Choir meets during fifth hour every weekday of the entire school year to prepare for one concert per quarter. In addition to learning a lot about musical style and technique, I feel that the class has a variety of interesting and talented people to become friends with. I learned a lot from this class and the people I met in it, and I consider it an honor and a privilege to have been a part of Concert Choir.

The fall play was really a lot of fun and it was worth all the hard work when it came to performance time. The cast all got along great and worked together well. Everyone gave their best and it resulted in a really wonderful production. It was an awesome experience and I look forward to the next opportunity I have to participate in a school play or musical. Compiled by Casey Stoner

This year's fall play was Go Ask Alice, by Paul Shiras. The plot concerned a teenage girl, Alice, who is pulled into the world of drugs and later attempts to turn her life around. The production, starring Senior Angie Klapper in the title role, was performed on the nights of October 31 and November 1, with the invaluable Mrs. Caruthers directing. The cast, an unusually large number of twenty-three, rehearsed for two months beforehand to make this production their best. Written by Sarah Marxhausen

All Together, Now

Compiled by Ryan Ishino and Tyson Miklebost

The most amazing thing about Blue is seeing Mr. Andres in his element. He is a lot of fun and he allows us to get to know him personally. The whole class enjoys listening to his childhood stories. The absolutely best one he told has been about the time that he and one of his friends planted a stink bomb in his high school and they got two and a half days off of school. Also, I like Blue because all of the kids in it are really talented singers and we get along well together and have gotten to be good friends. We have fun singing and dancing with each other.

Because Unclaimed Freight is an exclusively male singing group, when Mr. Andres is around us, he has a completely different personality than he does while conducting the other classes. He is much more blunt and slightly stranger, but that is part of what makes the class so much fun. Unclaimed Freight is just like having a get together with friends before school. We have a lot of fun, but there is still a need to sing as a mature group of guys, and we do it really well. Take the song, Concerto for Singing Chickens, for instance. The title itself explains how much fun the class really has.

MARCHING

Color Guard represents a unique form of the performing arts. It is an organization which combines both athletics and expression of one's self through each show performed. The guard also provides a close-knit family, considering six out of seven days of the week are spent together. You experience a constant joy of performing and fulfillment together. Color Guard is an experience I will always remember fondly.

On and on and on . . .

Compiled by Megan Minger

The Marching Band is a closely-knit group of people who enjoy music and high-energy performances. During the season, we practiced six days a week, learned one song for parades and three songs for the field show, and performed at football games and competitions. Then, in April, we all went to Florida for the All-American Music Festival; I'll never forget that. One of the best things about Marching Band is that so many people are in it. It's a great chance to meet and make new friends.

Let Sound Abound

Compiled by Angela Poleschook

Where can you find a seventh hour full of swing and smiles? Jazz Band, of course! Jazz Band grooves to all styles of jazz: funk, rock and swing. Our loyal conductor, Biskup, kicks off the tune with, "1...3...a 1,2,3,4!" and then we burst into joyful music. Soloists become engulfed by the "power" of the driving beat and the magic of improvisation. His head violently keeps time as the horns blend into a harmonious exultation. The spirits of Benny Goodman, Count Basie and other past swingers are lifted by the excellence of the music of Jazz Band.

Percussion ensemble is a class of many things, from mastering the art of the marimba to being enlightened as to the finer points of the musical scale by our instructor. Mr. Biskup keeps us in line and helps us grow in our rhythmical skills. Sometimes we are visited by the percussive genius, Brian. This instructor tells us about all his experiences and tests us on our imperative progress. Practicing . . . performing . . . it's great being around those who also enjoy the chills and thrills one gets when experiencing the pleasant smiles on people's faces as they listen to the rolling thunder of our percusssion.

Craig Nason (10)

Perhaps the funniest moments in the musical came with Mrs. Herbert's crazy warm-ups before each practice. Creating what Mrs. Herbert calls "inner focus," the whole cast joined together in a quick vocal warm up by mimicking her sounds. Next, the whole cast belted out a simultaneous, "Hello, how are you?" from the stage to the back wall followed by a ten second back rub. Compiled by Amy Bierbach

Give 'em the Music, Man!

This year's school musical was Music Man, written by Meredith Wilson. There were, as fits with Columbine tradition, two casts, each giving two performances. The musical was performed from February 25th to the 28th, and was directed by Mr. Andres. The story of Music Man deals with a con man who comes to a small town and convinces the people there to invest in a brass band. Its most famous song is "Seventy-Six Trombones." Written by Sarah Marxhausen

When I walk into the band room every morning, I am greeted by the noise of many different instruments warming up and the voices of the people talking before the bell rings -- a total mess of noise. Biskup steps up on the podium and the room slowly becomes silent. He raises his arms, and, on the downbeat, beautiful music flows from the varied instruments. The people in Wind Symphony are there because they love music. We practice every morning to prepare for competitions, including the Columbine and All American Music Festivals.

Instruments have voices, too

Compiled by Diwata Perez

When I walk into this second hour class, the rambunctious noise of a variety of brass instruments, mixed with the clamor of drums and the commotion of students' gossip for the day fill the room. Biskup, our conductor, walks to the center to stand on the podium. The noise starts to gradually diminish as each student notices his position. He raises his hands and the class begins to synthesize music. All the individual sounds of the trumpet, french horn, trombone, flute, oboe, clarinet, saxophone, tuba, and a variety of different drums combine to form the magical melodies of Columbine's Concert Band.

MORE THAN MUSCLE

Mental preparation aids athletes on road to victory

Junior Jason Rauzi uses practice time at the driving range to work on his form and visualize a perfect shot. photo by Meagan Stirling

Perserverence, dedication, and determination. Every member of a team must possess the patience to practice, the desire to compete, and the will to succeed. During the course of a season, all athletes struggle past adversity in order to achieve their goals. Teams practice many hard hours in order to sharpen their abilities for upcoming competitions. However, ability can only take an individual so far. The athlete must also be fine-tuned mentally. Every block, volley, step, swing, and dismount is controlled by the complex mind of the competitor. Focusing on the task at hand is a critical part of winning an athletic battle. Events are often won and lost in the minds of coaches and players alike. Student athletes often dream of league, state, or even national championships. It is in pursuit of those dreams where we see athletes as more than muscle.

Grant Hester (12)

"This is the best team I have ever been a member of. I think we will perform well at the state championships because of our coaching staff, as well as our high level of teamwork and determination."

The wrestling team capped off an excellent season by taking the league championship for the first time. They ended the season with a record of 9-1.

MORE THAN MEMBERSHIP

Students find fellowship and creativity through organization

Our lives are driven by many obligations, desires and goals. On the top of many of our priority lists would be the search for companionship, the pursuit of success and the achievement of individuality. Through organizations, many of us find a way to reach these goals. We often gain lasting friendships through club activities such as overnight forensics tournaments and early-morning mountain biking trips. Many of the clubs we contribute to teach us to find success. Some organizations, like DECA, involve competition, while student publications teach us how to handle deadlines and FCCLA prepares us for our future home life. We express our individuality through the organizations we join. Art Club brings out our creativity, service organizations allow us to show our concern for others and our individuality culminates in Diversity Club. Clearly, organizations are more than membership.

It's Friday afternoon and the commons is becoming cluttered with rolls of colorful paper, scissors, glue and balloons. Senators are busily preparing for the Homecoming dance on Saturday by decorating the commons to fit the theme, Around the World. Some senators prepare for the dance by building a huge hot air balloon while others concentrate on making the Eiffel Tower. Senators are relieved when the countless hours are nearly completed. On Saturday they return to put on the finishing touches.

Allison Budzynski carefully climbs the intimidatingly huge pole and presses on higher and even higher to the very top. With knees nervously shaking, she reaches the highest point and looks down to where 13 other peer counselors cheer her on. She finally jumps and rings the bell. Afterwards, the counselors successfully pass one another through a spider web of ropes. These activities, along with others, are some of the many challenging courses which help build teamwork and determination.

Adventurously Different

As they dart through a mountain trail hidden by prickly thorns, the icy cold wind pierces the faces of the mountain biking club. Their fingers are so frozen they feel as though they are permanently attached to the handle bars. But they continue, although the rush is completed only by the freezing breeze that numbs toes and leaves a ringing in ears. The pain is excruciating, but they persevere. Then they hit a huge pile of mud but keep going because this is what its all about; this is why they got up on Saturday.

Food! New and exciting. A taste never experienced before. Big noodles with a light and inviting texture. Good company in this Vietnamese restaraunt. People laughing at the sheer joy of the atmosphere. An accepting group of individuals that willingly talk to one another, although they've hardly ever met. After all, this is why they joined Diversity Club, to experience the interesting, new things that learning about different cultures brings. They may be diverse, but they have a common goal.

Every year, students all across the nation gather at the flag pole in front of the school for a morning of worship and prayer. This year, on Thursday the 18th of September, more than 30 Columbine students surround the pole, holding hands and praying for themselves as well as others. It is a chance for students to become closer and develop friendships with people who share the same faith and belief. As other students pass by the pole, they view the circle of believers and observe their devotion.

Imagine collecting over 400 pounds of toys for Children's Hospital at Christmas. Fifteen people take the time after school to gather the toys each day and, at the end of the drive, the students transport them to the hospital. As the Civitan members arrive, the faces of the children are glowing with excitement, and anxious bodies rush to the case of toys. The hard work of organizing the drive and attaining participation from peers becomes rewarding in those few short seconds.

Cooking Up Success

At the end of the school day, the last of the remaining students exit the classrooms, but a unique 25 students make their way to the life management classrooms. Here they will sharpen their skills for upcoming district and state competitions. These students are part of FCCLA, Family, Career and Community Leaders of America, a leadership club dedicated to service acts focusing on family activities. By gaining a realization of the importance of the family in today's society, these students prepare for success.

President Drew Palaszewski calls the meeting to order. Lee Jurgens, secretary, scrambles to get his paper and pen ready to take minutes. The remaining members of the club put aside all else and concentrate on the club's function and purpose. The 16 members of WES, Work Experience and Study, are ready to begin. Focusing on how to help and develop positive communication with the community, the members pool ideas. A group of state-qualifying DECA students arrive at the lavishly decorated Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs. The lobby is bustling with excitement and anticipation for the competition to begin. The crowd begins to disperse into their different categories. The students then face the chal-lenge of a 100 question test ov-er their qualifying area. Next, in front of a panel of judges, the students must role-play a business situation dealing with their topic. The determination and hard work has paid off.

The commons is filled with hungry students conversing about the happenings of the day. To the surprise of most, a limo pulls up, and Elvis enters the building. He makes his way to the stage through the crowds of students. Music begins to play, and the lyrics of "Hound Dog" penetrate the lunchroom. Conversations stop, and all heads turn to watch the King of Rock and Roll. Later, students begin participating in the FBLA district competition. For a moment, the stress of everyday life disappears.

Showing They Care

The sound of orange butcher paper being cut and the excitement of Key Club members fills the halls as they decorate their portion of Trick or Treat Street. The sight of ghosts, goblins, witches and princesses sets the mood for the Halloween spirit. Walking carefully through the haunted maze and becoming startled by any movement along the way, the community kids greatly appreciate receiving candy from the club volunteers. This feeling of satisfaction is one of many rewards for helping the community.

It's 7:30 on a wintry Saturday morning; all that is seen in the commons are sleep-deprived volunteers and a hundred lunch sacks waiting to be given away to Denver's homeless. Packing up the cars with the sacks and anticipating the long ride to the rescue mission, Honor Society members are eager to be helping out the community. Finally, crowded with the homeless while opening the door, they feel the relief and great satisfaction of helping others that were in need.

The crowd grows silent as the next team is introduced. The competition had been fierce, but the team had made it this far. The section they are competing in requires them to invent a skit that turns a human team member into an animal. The skit itself is excellent, but everyone is nervous. At this level of competition every team is good, and no team is a shoe-in. The entire teams takes a final collective breath as they dive into their performance, and OM releases its amazing creative energy.

The final bell rings and most students begin to head home, but ten head toward the LMC. They sit down at a row of tables laid out with checkered boards and plastic playing pieces. A different kind of quiet descends on the library as the players begin their concentration. All attention is focused on the boards, the pieces and the mental strain shows on the players' faces. Competition continues, the players honing their skills preparing for an upcoming tournament. The Chess Club plays on.

Speak Up or Shut Up

Students gather around a table on a Saturday morning. Everyone is laughing; some are singing, some are yelping. A round is posted and a throng of people look to see where their next presentation or debate will be. Kinship is shown throughout the commons. A group of nervous people walk up the stairs to compete, and others stay, waiting for their round. An hour passes. Some return, others leave. Those that have come back are now telling the horror stories of the judges. And so goes another forensics tournament.

The delegates are sitting around tables, arranged in two columns with an aisle between. Some people are dressed up as the people would in the country they are representing. A person gets up and makes a speech about a resolution, then sits back down. The whole time the judges are observing, thinking, scoring. Another person gets up and asks a question of how the resolution will help their country. Satisfied with the answer they sit down. Welcome to Model United Nations.

Ring, ring. As the bell motions for all students to be in their rightful places, Literary Magazine staff members slowly file into the Publications room. The members scatter throughout the room, some making their way to a computer and others making their way to the couches. Poems, short stories., and artwork created by the students are handed out to the various members to be read. Editors converse about the fate of the magazine. In the background, sounds of great literature can be heard.

Art Club members sit in groups, talking of the events of the day. Soon after, Mrs. Hirokawa, the sponsor of the club, signals for the members to calm down and arrange themselves accordingly so that the meeting can begin. The question of the group: What will happen the rest of the year? Group members volunteer their ideas. Laughs are heard and smiles are seen at the originality these minds present. The meeting comes to a close, and members file out, full of creative energy and fresh ideas.

We Report, U Decide

Every day, there is a job to be done for the newspaper staff in the Pub. Editors, writers and photographers are hard at work to complete their duties in order for The Courier to be distributed each month to the students and faculty of the school. The editors are brainstorming ideas for the next newspaper, writing editorials and making layouts for finished articles. Writers frantically find students to interview for stories, research information for their stories and type the stories on the computer. Also, writers occupy their time making plans to critique new movies in theaters and eat at local restaurants for the Features section . Photographers take snapshots of students and teachers around the school and make appointments to photograph sporting events. In addition to stories, all members of the staff must call local businesses to obtain an advertisement to pay for the costs of printing. All of this hard work is rewarded when the school is able to read the finished publication.

The bell sounds and the Pub finds itself nearly vacant. Waiting patiently on Big Bertha, three minutes elapse. Suddenly, the door creaks open and groups of tardy editors and staff members bound through looking satisfied from their lunch experience. There is an immediate dash to the computers; it is deadline day! Writers fight and complain, yelling for help with the pesky machines. Meanwhile, frantic photographers roam through the school halls in search of that "Kodak moment". Waiting for computers or film, many staff members find themselves occupied with editor's dirty work. Finding names, numbers, schedules, sealing envelopes and running errands are just some of these. As the time on the clock diminishes, staff members sit, debating what to do next. They are surrounded by three half written stories, piles of envelopes to seal, captions to write, two phone calls to make, a roll of film to shoot and unfinished math homework. Then . . . ding, ding . . . class is over! ~ Amy Bierbach

MORE THAN MASSES

Classmates discover a journey of unmasking a world of multiplicity

This scene will forever be engraved on our minds, like it or not: the hallways, the classrooms, the cafeteria, the library... our school is filled to the brim with mobile and uniform bodies. To an outsider we appear to be only a building, a mass. However, did you ever imagine how it would feel to step inside the life of another classmate? The big and brawny jock who is the team's MVP, the timid and shy girl who always sits in the corner, the obnoxious class clown who strives to be the center of attention, or the bright and clever student with perfect grades. Walking in any one of these people's shoes, you would quickly realize that this once foreign and distant classmate has feelings, fears, and dreams; they too have a story. Throughout high school, we go through a process of unmasking only a small number of the diverse students at Columbine. We discover that we are not alone, and that we are much more than masses.

JUNIORS

Did somebody say stress? From experimenting with ionic compounds to mastering the concept of a unit circle, we excelled to the highest of our own abilities. Reaching new goals, and setting high expectations, we established our place at Columbine. We entered the world of upperclassmen, discovering our individuality and taking on more responsibilties. Through hard work and dedication as juniors, we prepared ourselves for the greatest challenges to come. The differences and similarities between us make us a unique class.

WE ARE THE CLASS OF 1999!

OVER TIME

Jobs are a necessity for many students, and for others, a place to earn a little extra spending money. Students find a variety of ways to make money. What is your favorite job and why?

The Work-Force of CHS

- "Working for my dad, because it was easy, and he paid me a lot."
  ~ Chris Cowles (11)
- "I worked at a tanning salon, and I got to tan for free!"
  ~ Kim Winger (11)
- "When I worked at a movie theater, I ate the popcorn and nachos."
  ~ Brandon Reisbeck (11)
- "The best job I've ever had was reffing little kids soccer, because I love kids."
  ~ Annie Ford (11)
- "Working as a receptionist. All I had to do was answer the phone."
  ~ Megan Minger (10)
- "The only job I've ever had is working at a daycare center, but I really love it, so it would probably be the best one too."
  ~ Melanie King (11)

Amy Evans is caught off guard in her unique winter attire. Students chose to express their individuality in a variety of ways; from non-school related activities and club participation, to the latest fashion accessories. This year, ski wear was a popular way to sport style, stay warm, and express a love of skiing. With the freezing snow storms from "El Nino," none of these items went unused outdoors or inside. photo by Ashley Cook

SWEET DREAMS

We all have dreams, but not many of us know what they mean. Most of our dreams seem to be very stange and leave us confused when we wake up in the morning, but the objects and even the colors in them help us to determine different things about ourselves. Match the following to test your knowledge of dreams and their symbols.

Zzzzzzzzz...

1. flying
2. monsters
3. cliffs
4. building a house
5. reoccurring dreams
6. red and black
7. white

a. You are not getting the message of a previous dream
b. You are yearning for release and more freedom
c. There are issues in your life that you need to deal with alone
d. This signifies something satanic
e. You really want to change something about yourself
f. A sign of positive energy and purity
g. In some respects, you are out of control

6. A week with people who have the maturity of freshmen
5. Food fights in the counselors' office
4. Watching seniors pull 6th-grade pranks
3. All the free candy the 6th graders so graciously give up
2. Having a sibling call you Mr./Miss and having to like it

This was our last year as underclassmen and our first taste of driving behind the wheel. We grew by maturing and experiencing new freedoms. Our classes forced us to reach above and go beyond our limits of comprehending. We unleashed Hawthorne's beast, The Scarlet Letter, and unraveled the mystery of the fetal pig. This year challenged us by helping us to find our own independence through jobs and borrowing our parents' cars. We are proud to be the first class of the 20th century. We found our place at CHS and discovered our own identity.

Becky Tripp carefully balances her lunch plate in one hand while adding some condiments. Many students enjoy full lunches while others energize from just a snack. Students with cars often get the opportunity to go off campus for lunch, but are often rushed for time. No matter what students indulge in, lunch is always a time for meeting up with friends and relaxing their minds. photo by Meagan Stirling

MAYBE LATER

Procrastination seems to be a common characteristic among many teens. Very few people never put anything off, and for those who get things done consistently, way to go! For those remaining among the majority, don't stress! Doing laundry and running errands are only a few responsibilities that students put off.

Top Ten Things Students Procrastinate Doing

10. Going to the bathroom - sound a little painful?
9. Telling parents about a car accident - cringe at the thought of spending the next four weekends locked up with only three-way calling as a way to communicate.
8. Writing or mailing letters - Grandma always likes to hear from her little "pumpkin"!
7. Cleaning out car - can't drive around in a moving trash dumpster forever!
6. Getting up in the mornings - what's the story, Morning Glory?
5. Shaving - looking a little hairy there, heh?
4. Cleaning room - some people choose to express themselves through unique room decor.
3. Going to the dentist - nobody likes being shot with novocaine!
2. Doing things parents request to be done - feeling rebellious?
1. Doing homework - big surprise!

LUCKY DAYS

Many students believe in superstitions. They affect their lives directly or indirectly in many ways. Here is a list of the ten most popular superstitions at Columbine.

Top Ten Superstitions at CHS

10. Knock on wood when you want to continue good fortune
9. Don't ever ask what is in the cafeteria food
8. Kiss the basketball before throwing a free throw
7. Play the "he/she loves me, he/she loves me not" game with flower petals
6. Find a penny pick it up, all day long you'll have good luck (if it is tails-up, don't pick it up)
5. Say the alphabet while twisting off the stem of an apple (whatever letter it breaks off at will be the first letter of your future spouse's name)
4. Kiss your fingers then tap the roof of your car when going under a yellow light
3. Don't step on the marble rebel in front of the counseling center (it's bad luck if you do)
2. Lift feet when going over railroad tracks or your fingers will fall off
1. Never change your underwear during a winning streak.

FAITH & FRIENDS

Youth groups provide students with a variety of fun-filled activities. Many students have become involved in these groups because they are a place to strengthen relationships and to make new friends. What do you gain from being a member of a youth group?

Q&A

Have a Little Faith

- "I go to my youth group to meet new people from different schools, and we also go on retreats to get to know each other better."
  ~ Amy Bierbach (10)
- "I go to Young Life to see my friends and to meet new people."
  ~ Ian Gallegos (9)
- "I've gained a lot of lessons from the readings they do from the Bible. Besides, it is fun spending time with your friends."
  ~ Megan Coxey (9)
- "My youth group gives me confidence and self esteem."
  ~ Bill Threlkeld (11)
- "There are a lot of things that youth groups give to people. There are people there with your same beliefs and values, and you learn more about your religion."
  ~ Chrisitine Markert (9)

FRESHMEN

Imagine re-entering the world for the very first time, but you are a teenager and are the youngest among those of your kind. This could be compared to the very first day of school that we, as freshmen, experienced. Entering a world of splendor like none we have ever contacted before, we arrived, braved ourselves, and had an extreme sense of mixed emotions. The world opened its arms and provided for us opportunities, such as reading Romeo and Juliet and To Kill a Mockingbird. Through the year we continued to prosper and develop a true sense of all the sides of the world called high school.

WE ARE THE CLASS OF 2001!

DATING GAME

Q&A

Being involved in a relationship in high school is not uncommon. Dating proved to be an important part in many students' lives. In a random survey of 100 students, some interesting facts about dating at CHS were discovered.

Currently in a relationship:	26% yes	73% no
Want to be:	81% yes	19% no
Dating preference:	33% single	23% group	44% both

Why do you like to be in a dating relationship?

Hold My Hand

- "I want someone to be there for me and I always want to be with them to have fun and do things with them."

~ Ashley Berner (9)

- "Knowing that you have someone to turn to when you need someone, plus it's always good to have someone who can keep you company."

~ Matt Hardy (11)

- "Whenever you need someone to turn to, that person will always be there. It's always nice to have that person around to spend time with."

~ Gina Hoffman (10)

NEED IT, GET IT

High school is sometimes hard work and requires dedication, but students also have other activities in their lives. In order to keep up with their busy schedules, there are certain necessities that students need to survive in their everyday lives.

Top Ten Necessities of a High School Student

10. Assignment Book - to keep track of all of the homework and essays
9. The Internet - for research and legal entertainment
8. White-Out - for all of the essays that were supposed to be already proof-read
7. Graphing calculator - for programs that solve the problems, and to play games
6. Made-for-TV Movies - easier than actually reading the book, and they are recordable
5. Cliff Notes - helps you keep track of tiny details and characters
4. Automobile - you have to get around somehow!
3. Caffeine - to stay up late doing homework at midnight, and to stay awake during lectures
2. A Significant Other - a guaranteed date to dances

While visiting one of the many book stores in the area, Diana Cohen glances through pages of a book to decide if she would like to purchase it. Many new book stores provide separate reading sections with couches and chairs to create a comfortable reading environment for those students choosing a book to read. As an extra addition, students also enjoy the mini-coffee shops located in some book stores. photo by Dan Henry

Opening her locker, Nichole Dewitt attempts to get her bag before heading to class. The five minute passing periods do not allow much time for students to exchange materials in their lockers. However, many still choose to venture to their lockers in between classes in hopes of carrying fewer materials to each class. Instead, some choose to just meet and talk to friends between classes. photo by Meagan Stirling

MORE THAN

Academics paved the way to a better and brighter future

Academics can be best described through the hard work and dedication Columbine High School students display throughout the year. German historian Golo Mann describes achievement by saying, "Man is always more than he can know of himself; consequently, his accomplishments, time and again, will come as a surprise to him." Little do we students know that these accomplishments open the door to many opportunities that shall lead us to live wonderful lives. In classes ranging from guitar to cooking and calculus to Russian, students have the opportunity to engulf themselves in learning. With learning comes the ability to face the fears and the challenges of life that lie ahead for us all. These obstacles have prepared us to endure the challenges of the present and will one day shape our personalities, allowing us to become stronger individuals in the future. Through academics we become more than mental.

One main goal of English classes at CHS was to improve students' reading skills and knowledge of literature. Throughout high school, students were subjected to many required books. Freshmen in English classes usually started with a play. "I loved Romeo and Juliet because it was so romantic!" exclaimed Freshman Leiha Murphy. More challenging reading was required in American Literature at the sophomore level. Sophomore Lindsey Ludwig commented, "The Crucible was a good description of the Salem Witch Trials." Juniors often found themselves spending their free time reading required books from around the world. As Junior Chantel Chlebik explained, "The Stranger was great because it portrayed a different viewpoint." After three years of reading, there were those students who challenged themselves by enrolling in AP English. Senior Lindsey Woydziak admitted, "We read books ranging from King Lear to The Odyssey, but my favorite was The Book of Ruth because it was sensitive and touching." AP English does, however, have its perks. How does a trip to England sound?

Mathematics classes provided students with logical and linear thinking skills. One new program helped more students gain these skills than ever before. The Interactive Mathematics Program (IMP), now in its third year, taught the curriculum of traditional math courses (Geometry, Algebra I and II, and Trigonometry) in a nontraditional manner. Students used math to solve real-life word problems instead of simply doing repetitive exercises from a textbook. "Most of the learning happens in the classroom," said Junior Brooks Brown, because working in groups and cooperation is highly stressed. Another new facet IMP brings to math is real-world relevance. Junior Zach Rissmiller said, "When you ask what you're going to use this for, you just look at the problem and there it is." Although many students reaped great rewards from IMP, it isn't for everyone. Junior Chris Hooker got out of IMP after two years. He said, "It wasn't what I expected because I did a lot better in traditional math classes." Although the classwork in IMP was vastly different from any other math classes, most of the students believed they got at least as good of an education as those in other math courses. ~ David Proctor

EXPLORE

Not just textbooks and lectures, science classes provided many ways for unusual learning. Sophomore Ryan Vandamme commented, "My science teacher my freshman year based his weather forecasts on the lengths of his cat's hair." Teachers would often do anything to gain students' interest. "My teacher told the corniest jokes to get the class' attention and it forced us to listen and pay attention to his teachings," stated Sophomore Nick Goodrich. Although many learned science in traditional ways, some found it easier to comprehend through unique methods of teaching. Through these methods, students came up with some interesting conclusions about science. "Science flows in and out of everything in life; it is the essence of life and existence," Senior Heather Valodine explained. The lessons learned in books have taught Junior Aaron Smith "that science is the epiphany of evolution; it's all that separates man from beast." Freshman Lindsay Wyant added, "I love learning about things I've never known before, and through science, we used experiments to determine how things react. It's cool!"

What do the American government, the Civil War, and the culture of Ancient Rome all have in common? They were all topics studied by students in their various social studies classes. In these classes, many teachers ventured away from the traditional methods of teaching and tried new projects in an effort to maintain student interest. One such alternative method employed was that, while studying Greece, many Juniors participated in the simulation of the Olympics. Junior Diwata Perez commented on this activity by saying, "I thought the Olympic Games we did were a different approach to showing how the different city-states displayed their civic pride." Junior Megan Morrison, after participating in another alternative activity, stated, "I thought the hieroglyphic poster we did while studying Egypt was fun." Sophomore Becky Beachy explained, "We simulated a Revolution in class. We had colonists and loyalists and we fought over thirteen islands." In American civics, freshmen spent time working with various computer programs. Freshman Erik Earnhardt exclaimed, "The Power Point project is cool."

Hola. Guten tag. Bonjour. These were some of the many friendly greetings heard throughout the foreign language hall, as students learned not only new language skills, but valuable information about the world's various cultures. Whether studying Spanish, French, or German, a foreign language prepared students for future experiences and events. Sophomore French student Stefanie Planck stated, "I'm taking French because after high school my sister and I are planning to live in Paris for a couple of years." Freshman Katie Hanson exclaimed, "I go to Germany every four years, and this year I will finally be able to talk with people!" Junior Joanne Matlock declared that her Spanish class will help her to "successfully communicate" with her "Spanish speaking family." Freshman Spanish student Christi Eveleth explained that she took Spanish so she could "go to Spain in a few years." Other students enrolled in a foreign language class merely because they enjoyed it. Freshman Eric Parsons expressed, "I took first-year German because it is like kindergarten!"

Consumer family studies classes gave students the skills they needed for their future. Senior Bryan Steele stated, "It will help me become a better cook," while Sophomore Kirsten Young commented, "In cooking class we learned how to read nutrition labels so I can see how much bad stuff I consume during the course of a day." The skills students gained will also allow them to become more self-sufficient. Freshman Hannah Sheely said, "I think that it will help me to be more independent in college." Individuality played a major role in each of the classes. "In creative foods we learn to cook creatively and use our imagination to prove our skills," Sophomores Emily Honeycutt and Brittany Duran stated. These classes gave students a taste of something inviting and different, as Junior Bethany Koch stated: "In consumer family studies, you got a chance to pursue the interests and activities that aren't available to you in standard classes." Information learned in consumer family studies provided students with the knowledge to better their understanding of life outside of school. ~Diwata Perez & Angela Poleschook

Despite the fact that movies and television portray the average business person as stressed and overworked, many students still looked forward to pursuing future careers in business. Senior Chris Konecny explained that he wanted to be a stock broker, while Junior Melissa Couris hoped to put forth her business skills in the future by planning to open her own business. Sophomore Heather Miller also looked forward to owning her own business so that she could be her "own boss and be successful." Many students got a jump start toward their career goals by taking business classes. Freshman Angela Nelson commented that business skills were important to her future because they helped her learn important skills, and Junior Jaime Jolly stated that business skills would help her become "successful in life." Senior Brittany Quintana added, "It's the business people who will rule the world and make the important decisions." Regardless of the business profession they planned on choosing, many found that high school business classes were still beneficial.

Students enrolled in the technical education department, composed of video productions, woodworking, and drafting, explored many new types of learning. From these diverse courses, students readily remembered the important skills that they had learned. Senior Mike Wilson, a video productions student, recalled, "The most important thing I learned in video production was how to use new technology to improve my films." Junior Joel McCormick said, "I learned the importance of a story board in video productions." Woodworking was also a hands-on class in the technical arts department. "The most important thing that I learned in woods was how important precise and accurate measurements are," commented Junior Nick Zupancic. The technical arts department also offered drafting as a class for students, and teacher Ryan West stated, "I feel that the most important things that students learn in drafting are how important it is to pay attention to detail and how to be a perfectionist." Through these various courses, students were able to learn and remember important skills.

HARMONY

Music programs were an integral and important part of the school year. They affected many students, even those that didn't participate in the classes. The performances, ranging from marching competitions to choir concerts, offered a different form of entertainment for many. Junior Karen Schott came to performances, "To see my friends when they were doing something they enjoyed. It's the same reason someone would go to a football game." Freshman Kristen Doherty went to performances because, "They offered something different to do that was a lot of fun." Senior Colin Cummings declared, "Anyone who is anyone goes to the musical performances." Many students also believed that music was important in everyday life and a way for students to express themselves. Sophomore Hilary Snyder said, "Music is a significant part of life because it expresses emotion and feeling that people wouldn't be able to experience otherwise. Life would be boring without it." Senior Mike Twisselman expressed, "Music allows students to find talents hidden within them." Sophomore Christine Bell summed music up as, "the essence of life."

AGILITY

Running, playing games, sit-ups, and lifting weights all have one thing in common: physical education. Physical education offered a wide variety of activities for CHS students to partake in and choose from during the 1997-1998 school year. The classes that students chose were often based on the type of exercise they liked best. Senior Jen Passmore stated her exercise preferences. "I love playing all the different games in gym class because it helps me blow off a lot of steam during the day, but one thing I absolutely hate is the mile run every Thursday." Freshman Ian Gallegos agreed as he commented, "The mile run is the worst, but, hey, it will get me into good shape." Weights and body shaping proved to be the favorites among students. Senior Shaun Flaherty claimed, "I've taken weights for all four years of my high school career, and I like it because it's really paid off." Sophomore Andrea Bannister explained why she preferred body shaping. "It helped me learn different techniques to tone my body." No matter what class students preferred, physical education challenged everyone. ~ Heather Husband & Tiffany Wilson

VIEWPOINT

From ceramics to sculpting, students chose art classes to express their individual styles through artistic work. Students got to choose from sixteen art classes if they wanted to take art as an elective. Freshman Erin Walton described, "I took ceramics because I enjoyed working with clay and doing hands-on projects. Art and ceramics have inspired me to learn more about the different forms and textures of art." Some students took art classes because they felt they could use the skills they learned later on in life. Sophomore Ali Boukhalfa said, "I took sculpture because I would like to do sculpting when I get older." Overall, art proved to be a popular subject among students. According to art teacher Erin Yust-Brown, all of the sixteen art-related classes were completely enrolled. She said, "All of the classes were so popular that I had to turn down several students who applied for the classes." Yust-Brown further explained, "I think students take art classes because they are able to express themselves in a way other than the typical reading and writing, and they are able to use their right side of the brain to be creative."

MORE THAN

Seniors remember the past and leap into the future

As we, the class of 1998, approach our long-awaited day of graduation, the memories of our last twelve years of education come rushing forward. Looking at those around us, we recall friendships forged and goals accomplished during the years of high school which we have now completed. As seniors, we face the challenge of balancing the desire for fun with the need for continued responsibility. Many tackle the college application process as they prepare for their future, while others opt to enter the work force immediately. Although we can always look fondly at the past, we must now look toward the future and realize the infinite opportunities which now exist around us. During our four years here, we have contributed greatly. As a result, we will live in the memory of CHS for many years to come, making us more than mortals.

You have brought great joy to our lives.
Your compassion, gentleness, laughter, playfulness and, yes, even your seriousness is something we will always treasure.
You have grown into a wonderful young man.
We know you will achieve any goal you set your mind and heart on. We hope you will remember, with God all things are possible!
Our love and prayers will always be with you.
We love you,
Dad, Mom and Randall

Lindsay K. Horan

Congratulations!
You have accomplished a big step in your life with confidence and enthusiasm. We have no doubt in our minds that the next chapter in your life will be just as fulfilling and successful.
We are so proud of you.
Thanks for all the joy you've brought to our lives.
And never forget the angel that sits on your shoulder.
Mom, Jeff, Tyler,

In Memory of Larry L. Johnson

The Seasons Are Changing
by Duane A. Johnson 2-15-98

The seasons are changing,
the trees and leaves have caught the golden glow.
The weather is changing
it's starting to freeze you know.
With the freez'n comes winter's first snow.
The snow glistens brightly covering the land with a pristine glow.

The creator whispers softly "It's time to go."

Just one more season, just one more snow
The years pass so quickly and then it's time to go.

The friends we leave behind will they know?
How we will miss them so.
Will they remember our times together?
Will they remember what we've accomplished?
Oh I hope so.

The creator whispers softly "It's time to go,
It's time to go, It's time to go."

The seasons are changing
The biting cold sets our cheeks aglow
And now,--- it's time to go.

We may question God's timing and yet we know
It was Larry's time to go.

Senior Dedications

Brett,
As you look to this new beginning, I wish you the best of luck because you deserve the best the world has to offer. In our time together you have inspired me and made me smile like no one else. Wherever we are in our relationship in the future, remember you are always in my heart. Hugs, Pam

Amber,
Thanks for being the friend who's always believed in me, who's always understood, who's always accepted me, who always cared. What we have is rare- let us protect it, celebrate it, cherish it... let us always be friends. Nikki

Matt,
You have filled my heart with endless laughing and a few special tears. The countless, incredible memories that we share will always be my most precious possessions. I am so proud of everything you have accomplished and everything you stand for. Thank you for the best year of my life. I love you a lot, a bit, and forever. Love, Your "brown-eyed" girl

G-Funks,
We are in the Milky Way- Co! Tiff, you are the best twin I could ever have. Don't forget the Breckenridge experience, Ange. I've never been on a snowmobile before, but I can drive and work the windshield wipers with the help of a gadget. Prom night, hot tubbin', four-wheeling, and more. I love you, girlfriends-forever.
Love- Kim

Sarah,
"It is one of the blessings of old friends that you can afford to be stupid with them." I am glad to have a friend like you to share things with. Good friends are hard to find. We have always had some good laughs together. Though our paths may go separate ways, our friendship will go on and on.
Your studly pal, Sandy
May all your dreams come true, Amber

To All,
We have been through some hard times, but we're finally done. To the cast B -hors- I have enjoyed being in the same cast. But we will always have our two-for-one specials on Thursdays. Ah! Memories! To all of the veteran guard members, remember this- Mr. B's G, Red Robin, Gabe, Smarties, Jim, Chad, Mints, mint basket, and the Chinese fire drills. Love always, Alysia Ahlin

I'll always remember . . .
Michelle– James, our first time, box-seats, and national anthems. Oatsie– What's your name? Dallas, and strawberry daiquiris. Stupid– The math, your first rollercoaster, and Six Flags. Knik– Yankees hats, Mexico, and pimpin'! Kyle– You're getting soooooo big! See ya in the RHL buddy! Love ya Goldberg. Love y'all always! Kellye (A.K.A. Banana)

Holly and Kim,
How about this band? Holly, what's that in your purse? Carmen y Lela, silencio. Kathy, are you and Holly causing trouble back there? Kim, why did Holly leave the movie? I love phone-tag in the food court. That's disgusting. "I am embarrassed." "So am I." Remember the back row of fourth hour "AP." Thanks for the laughs this year. Remember: never allow yourself to get a double T. Kathy

Travis,
Ya baby, Ya! You're a very strong-willed person who dedicates his life to chasing after dreams. '98 could be considered the year your dreams came true. Not only a Star Quarterback, but an All-Star Boyfriend. You're my best friend. Remember this: "If I tell you I love you, can I keep you forever." Love, Jessica

Gang,
"Well, you and I, we're buddies, and we've been since we first met. Me and you. Well, we've sure been through our share of laughter and regret. Lord knows we've had our days. And more than once we've disagreed. But you've always been a friend to me. . .

Gang,
. . .You can be so stubborn, there's times I think you just like to fight. And I hope and pray I live to see a day when you say I might be right. And there's times I'd rather kill you than listen to your honesty. But you've always been a friend to me. You've always been, time and again. . .

Gang,
. . .The one to take my hand and show to me that it's OK to be just the way I am, with no apology. Oh you've always been and you will 'till God knows when, yes, you've always been a friend to me." -Garth Brooks. You've all been a part of the greatest times of my life. Love, Jenny and Stacie

Becky,
I'll never forget all of the memories we have shared. Top Gun, volleyball, Babies-R-Us, Ah ha yea baby, wanna be my lo-over?, Titanic, SteveBuckle, woods, Christopher Robin, Brownie Points, and much more! And through it all, you have always made me laugh. Thank you so much. You have truly been my best friend, and I will never forget you!!
Lindsay

Gosh and Kenoot,
The brothers I never had, through thick and thin, we've managed to do it all and pull it off. You guys showed me true friendship. The three amigos have got more than their eyes can see! Gosha the brain, Kenny-win the talented, you both will go far. I'll never forget you guys.
Brotherly love,
Mamatoot

WallBall, Thanks for all the memories. The Rock! I'm so glad we threw trash at each other. I know he did not like Nick. We had many great moments. I hope you enjoy next year. No problem for all those tapes I made you. Pearl Jam rules. I'll always remember all the great times we shared. I'll always love you,
Jeremy

Katy,
From 7th grade to Ft. Collins, Musicals, lonely prom night and getting trouble with Rose. Woolie socks and long lunch hours. Big butty ____, "Billy the Beta," our trip down Colfax. And who can forget Florence? You've become my best friend. Thank you for the memories. Never forget you. Lauren

Editors,
To all of the editors:
Thanks for making my first year on yearbook staff a really good one.
T.H.

Rob:
You have a lot to offer the world, don't deprive yourself. Tim: You stood up for me, I can't thank you enough for our friendship. Cody and Matt: We have a mutual respect for each other, and thanks for respecting our friendship. Kath: (dr.#2) your friendship means more than words. To all: Good luck in everything you pursue!! Angie

Steve and Lauf,
We've had a lot of memories together. Lindsay Reder's birthday party. Cassidy, remember 8th grade LMC assistant? Jenny, Sweetheart's Dance was a blast. All those retreats we went on were great. Thank you for getting me involved because look at us now. Thanks for being such great friends, and being like sisters to me.
Love, Jason

Erin,
Oh so many memories! A special Taco Bell, Gimpy, The Beef Palace, was there a light back there? Nap time, I don't have my key! Backing onto the highway, and much more! Words can't express how much I'll miss you. Never forget our memories and our friendship. Thanks for everything and good luck! Love, Emily

Meldrum and Zahn,
Wow! It's hard to believe that the memories we had together were all within the last three years. Playing pool, darts, and ping pong (you two playing while I played Nintendo with Zahn's brothers). Zahn–thanks for all the girl advice, it helped (yeah right). Meldrum–thanks for helping me brush up on my dancing. I wonder what that looked like when Zahn came downstairs? Thanks for being such good friends.
Jackson (Jackhead)

Kel,
Where to begin– Boykin embarrassing us at all the games. You never talking to me, it was your fault. All those times you've stabbed me in the back. The night at Curzio's with Paul and Kelly. Jessie asking Jeremy that question on your couch. You still owe me. I'll always remember you and I'll always love you. Joel

Trenchcoat Mafia,
We are Josh, Joe, Chris, Horst, Chuck, Brian, Pauline, Nicole, Kristen, Krista, plus Tad, Alex, Cory. Who says we're different? Insanity's healthy! Remember rocking parties at Kristen's, foos-ball at Joe's, and fencing at Christopher's! Stay alive, stay different, stay crazy! Oh, and stay away from CREAM SODA!!
Love Always,
The Chicks

Fellas,
"If it be now, 'tis not to come; if it be not to come, it will be now; if it be not now, yet it will come. The readiness is all." ~Hamlet 5.2
We were the best, never forget that.
John "Big Daddy" Davidson

Jenny and Claudia,
Well girls, I know we've had our differences, but they made us closer friends. You two have made these four years unforgettable. So many memories. I'll never forget either of you.
Jenny, I hope you and Brett get married, and Claudia, I'm sorry for everything I've ever done to hurt you.
Love always, Amber

Jen-Pen and Onie,
We graduated! We're all moving on to bigger and better things. Thanks so much for always being there for me and giving me so many great memories. I love you two like sisters.
Hope we always stay in touch. Follow your heart and your dreams. Good luck with everything you do. Love,
Mandola

Joel,
Hollywood, playing soccer at Clement, the pool, Ben's house, you birthday party!!! Star Wars, Conno, the night with Gebs, the night with Troll, Las Vegas, Pearl Jam, shopping at American Eagle, the deli with Brasher, MAD BLEND, Shane's house~ you were sad ha ha. Good luck at NAU. I'm proud of you. I know you'll do well.
King Jeremy the Wicked

Shmoopie,
Two years, it seems like a day. Seinfeld nights, basketball games, golf, movies, nintendo, and more. The memories of a lifetime stand only a few feet apart. No matter where I am, you're always with me, in my heart or in my hand. My love for you is forever.
Whoopie

Eric,
You little monkey! You really think you can get away?! There is still so much we said we'd do! Like: bungee jumping, Mexico, midnight baseball, hang-gliding, parasailing, Moab, gopher snipering, skiing, surfing, free-diving, abaloning, marlin/shark fishing, canoeing, sailing, backpacking, 14ers, rock climbing, ice climbing, flying, sky diving, covert midnight scuba diving, cliff diving, fire walking, and bobsledding. Have fun in Cali, I'll see you there in a year. Tre

Dearest Connor,
Thanks for our times, all of which I'll never forget. From swings to stars, when Scarborough Fair was our favorite place to be to a chocolate (which was a lot to ask for). I was always the fool, but we laughed together. I respect and love you! good luck in everything you pursue! Love always, Angie

Nikki,
Well hon, it's finally over. I'll never forget you, or all the fun memories we had. Do you remember driving on curbs, dances, Matt, Derek, air farting, and a million others? You helped me so much during Homecoming and made me feel so good about myself! Thank you so much! See you at UNC! L.Y.L.A.S! Love always,
Ber

Lunch Crew '98,
We had some great conversations about each others' problems and how school is going. Magwaue and Chuckles, thanks for always being there for me. Orange, nice earrings, don't let anyone take them. Bath, thanks for all the help with Calculus. Drano, you're welcome for all the rides home in the back of the truck. Love, Fraser

Meagan,
Thank you for all the work you did this year as the infamous, omniscient photo editor (like the time you were nearly run-over by football players).

Thank you also for always being kind and caring during deadlines. Caley and Alicia and Jenny

Kimi,
We've had such a great time together: Yes! I love Pop Tarts, your condo, scuba signals, jelly fish, crabs, night dives, Chris, sucking blood in biology, the joker, turtles, Buffett, etc. You have been one of my closet friends this past year and I love you for it
Forever friends, Alli

Ang,
What a blessing you have been to me as my dear friend these past years! From Mexico and finding creative uses for dead cockroaches to attempting to find out your love interest, it truly has been a joy, and I can't believe it will all be over soon. May God bless you richly. Love, Robs

The P-Posse,
You have all given me such wonderful memories. The laughter and the tears. Tiff and the B's(you know who I mean). The night of 1995, Arizona, parties, the melting women... Pashume en la gucci! You'll never know how much you mean to me. I love you with all my heart.
Love, Andrea

Lindsay,
Help, what should I do?! What do I say? If I say jump... Oh come on, just ask him! Call me. No, you call me. Maybe if we called 3-way... whatever you do, keep your head ducked when a car pulls up beside you downtown. Thanks for everything- keep smiling (well, laughing)! You'll always be "the best of the best"! Becky

All The OMers,
You're the best-looking bunch in skirts I've ever seen -- especially Mark, who should fall on his knees and thank me for not putting "the picture" in here. Katrina, what can I say but, "Go away! You're interrupting my Ted time!" Love and kisses and squishy things, Otto.

Pam,
It's hard to believe that it started with a phone call from the pub office. Nobody thought anything would happen between us after Homecoming. Fortunately, they were wrong. So much has happened since then. The ballet, Sadies, dance class, shopping. So many memories, all of them good. You made my year better than I ever could have expected. Thank you so much for being the best girlfriend and friend a guy could have. Brett

Kari,
I've learned to respect and love you more these years than ever in my past. Our friendship is special because there are no goodbyes. I can only hope that we remain as we have become... So, get down with your bad side, you funk-a-delic roly-poly.
Always, Angie

O.G. Bobby Johnson,
Thanks for having us over. Your basement the first time we played ball to the brawls with the boys. Me and McGrath at the movies. Why! Wese's Geb's. Learned dunking. The pool. Whitney's house. The Weaver saga. Don. Conno-our brother. I don't want to be here. Dre and the D.O.C. Good luck next year. I'm watching. Cain

Brett, Cameron, Steve and Ben:
"Of all the animals, the boys is the most unmanagable!" -Plato
You've been wonderful friends for the past few years and are certainly the reason that I have survived this year!! I will never forget the laughs, bad jokes, advice (good and bad), and of course- playing pool! There are a million other things- so promise to remember all the fun. Good luck in all! Angela

"Ode to the Lug-Mobile" Ode to James Bond and frisbee throwing, to soccer games and Kathy's laughing. Ode to Trail Dust and speed playing, to Erupt-a-butt and apples that are amazing. Ode to Princess Bride and Homecoming, to cross country and water skiing. Ode to Falicia, Amy, Caley, Chris, John, Nick and the rest, thanks for the fun! I wish you the best.
Kathy H-ererererr

Michelle,
Thanks for six years of awesome friendship, we have come through a lot. You are the most wonderful person I know and I am so thankful for our friendship, and everything and place that we have been, together. I love you as only a best friend can. Best Friends Forever, I swear! Love you always and forever, L.Y.L.A.S.
Erin

Curz,
The Rock. Adragna. Ben, we know where you really are. Your house (17), and you almost dying. Maten- "I have to." All those Pearl Jam missions. Going to Leonard's before our summer league game, eating the steak. Campbell's house. American Eagle. You and Conno's Seinfeld episode. I love you.
Joel

Holly,
Thank you for being the amazing Christian example that you are. I admire you for everything you never fail to stand for. Not only are you a great sister, but you are the best friend I could ever have. You have filled my life with love, laughs, and wisdom. I will miss you!
Love always, Shannie

Andrea,
Waved to any strangers lately! Here's some advice: stay away from the guys in downtown Denver and on Wadsworth too, for that matter! I've fallen and I can't get up! Man this snow is cold. Put your weight on your right foot- or is it the left! Stop making me laugh during discussions. Hey, are you my long lost sister! Thanks for being such a great friend!
Becky and Lindsay

The Dirtbags,
We couldn't have had a better year, thanks to you guys. Hangin' with Cap'n and Gordon, and out Buddy Meefa. Thank you for letting us into you dirty little group and for accepting us as we are. We love you all. Remember, this is only the beginning. Love you, Jules and Kate

Meagan,
For as long as I can remember, you've been by my side. But this year, my tag-a-long sis changed into one of the best friends I'll ever have. Thank you for always being here for me. I'll miss you, Mugs. Remember to always be yourself. Take care of Mike for me. I love ya, Kate

Katy,
Never forget your little sister Bethy. Good luck as you tackle college and the world. Always think of me when betting one, two on the ponyhorse. Oh, and what are you laughing about? Oh, and wit am I going down. You are my very best friend and I'll miss you. Love, Your Pony (who's not sick)

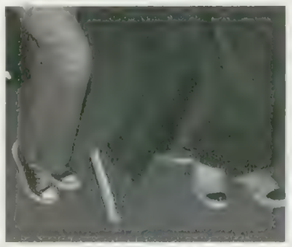
Girlfriends,
Run w/a blanket, pull over she's going to puke, let's do something fun, we're in the Milky Way, the Einstein bench, bobbing zombies, hot tubs, burnt hair, drank a little too much...let's share! Let's start a band, renting movies with pocket change, eating like monsters, what's a Jewish carpenter? Concerts and smiles. Let's just stay another day. Love, Crazy Spice

Lucy and Diamond,
How can we forget? The pool, Australia, slumber parties, crashing on the slopes, first dates, trip to the Rockies, first boyfriends, shakes, gas? Joey is a special name, Homer? Fighting Betas, dying hair, iced lattes, summers that end, sunburns, dreds, dances and smiles, airports and tears, barstool accidents, concerts, same clothes. I will love you until forever, Sky

Jess,
Funniest time was the fifties party, or was it New Year's Eve at the Five Iron concert? It's hard to tell, they were all fun. The best will be in 2000 when we go to Europe together... Just think, the three of us in Europe with little supervision- the possibilities! We'll miss you when you're gone. Love, Beth, Liza

Kate,
You may be the most obsessive person I will ever know, but you are one of the best. From micro machines to Hawaii, we have stayed together. Here's to old friends and new memories. Best of luck,
Amber
P.S. Huma-huma-nuka-nuka a pua'a

To all those freakish supporters of that outdated American institution, the Converse sneaker. Cons have stimulated our minds and inspired too many debates to remember. Through those Converse conversations came the glorious Chinese decorating in poster paint and cropping pencil that now adorn a select few Cons. Even if the rubber cement didn't quite work.
Doctor Proctor



To Jessica,
We've had a good time together. Remember Florida and throwing apricots out the window? The photo session with Rachel in the room, the phone call to Roger, the time you collapsed on the field and I ran all the way to the counseling office to get help, Chinese fire drills, eighties, Red Robin, and rock on. Over the past three years , we've become such good friends, I hope we'll keep it that way. Love Always, Alysia Ahlin

T-Tal-Taleen,
"Hello my Baby!" It's amazing in one year how close we've become. All the late study nights, "medicine," dinners, bagel shop trips, empty houses, and so much more. I know even though I'll be on the other side of the country, you'll remain my bestest friend for life! I can't express my thanks enough for the support you've given me- lending me your shoulder and your ear. I love you, Linz

To My Fiance Florent,
I can't wait to begin my life with you, peach. You're the perfect guy I've prayed for all my life. God made us for each other, you're just like me. I thank God every day that I have you. You're the only one for me and you will be the only one I will forever love,
Roxy

To my "experienced older woman,"
The very first time I met you, I prayed that you would become an ever-present part of my life. Thank you for answering my prayer. Every second with you is an unbelievable blessing and I want many more. Thank you for the laughter, and all the other smack. I love you, Matt

Jenja,
Band, soccer, boys/shorts, Mike, Mike, Mike, hit lists, Snoopy, Grizly Rose, shoes, phone calls, tears and laughter, trips around the world, and many more! I love ya like a sister and I'll never forget ya! You will always and forever be my best friend and I wish you the best luck in the future!
Claudia

Pee Wee, Burgertime, Curly, EY, Kellybones, King:
Beat it, Rhea sweat, Rhea car, poop pants, Q-queens, Chunk, most retardedest friend, "Oh my God," Drop Dead Fred, Sky and Jamie, Grand Lake, Sublime, swimming, probability, Ouiji board, camping, Boy Scouts, jersey shirts, pimp mobile, Laurel Park, "The Hill," Omana's, bathtubs, shower curtains, "do I sound normal," hand jive. Thanks for everything, Appy

Meggie,
We had so many great times these past years. Peanut butter cookies with wheat flour, hot dog buns, Crustie boogers, after prom button, foot massage, our special friend and their problem, JB and club soccer, New Year's- come on over. Thanks so much for being there for me, you mean so much and are definitely a special person. Abby

Josh~ Forsberg rules! No Tumors, please! Jesse~ You're dumb, want some tissues? Guantanamera, eat Subway! Romeo~ 3 hunks of metal in 4 years!! Munchkin~ Steve's the man! I wasn't flirting! James~ Da bomb, baby! Flex for us!!! Brit~ We leave you the goddess powers! Keep the boyz in line! We love you guys! BF- Always
Chuckles the Goddess

Ben,
For starters, Myers at your house with Burgess. "It was the jeans." Jeremy kicking the can. Feed them some bananas, Fore-ed. The Campbell's house (3)! Jackpot, Billy Madison, Jeremy and Jesse getting thirsty at the same time. Me sleeping with the moose. Leonard's face. Jeremy running across the backyard. "Dont go to North Carolina" (Curzio's). I love you, Joel

Kritin and Tracy,

We all have common bonds and I am sure we will have many more. Backs of cars, slides-games revealing each others' secrets, trying to teach me to dance at "The Rose," Pom dances! Messing up Tracy's hair when she was out of control!! We've all been so close and next year we will not be together, but I know we will continue to be the best of friends. I love you guys! Kelly

Hey Sara Sara,

Here we are- you the ogre, me the giggling neurotic. Remember, even when you end up like Happy Noodle Boy, homeless and insane, I'll still be there, a phantom whispering bad one-liners in your ear. "Want a cookie, little girl? I have done unspeakable things with salad tongs! Who would put a cat in a toilet?" Your Otto (the maniac)

House Watchers, Knock Knock... One in front and back!! Rolling in the snow naked. You guys are my best friends-my sisters! I am so proud of you guys and all that you've done- best of luck in all you do! I'll be right behind ya! Love Always, Fusbol Master!

Ryan,
To my best friend and my first true love. You taught me to laugh and be spontaneous, to be myself and to take life as it comes. But most of all, you taught me how to love unconditionally, and I thank you. You will always hold a special place n my heart. To my one and only love- I LOVE YOU! Love always and forever, Tammy

Ang,
We finally made it!! Whaaat? Just think where it all began... Red Swagger Butt and our "Secret Spot." Then we became much smarter... umm bagels for 60¢ and cream cheese for a dollar. Whatever... Trevor. "So I told her we'd still be fireeends." You know it, always and forever. Thanks for being the best friend ever. LYLAS, Jenny

AJ,
So many things to say. You have become like a sister to me, with so many memories that will never be forgotten. We have had a wonderful four years, and to think, we met in Mr. Blatchford's class; and have become beautiful, intelligent women that will be successful in everything we do! I love you, and will never forget you! Love, Britt

Jaime,
Even though I am gone, I will always hold a very special place for you in my heart. This is just the beginning for many more special times and something to bring us closer. I wish you the best of luck in the future, and my biggest wish is that I will be a part of that. Thank you for everything. I pinky swear !! Nathan Rebel

Amy, Becky, Lindsay, Meagan, Robin, Sarah,
Little incidents kept us ammused: Pizza, ketchup on pants, Germany, AP English, Voodoo Palace! Guitar, Christmas music vs. DC. Geoff?? Seltsam, "I'm really tired, I think I want to go home early tonight!" "Hey, do you girls know where any good parties are?" "We're just going to the library!" "Hey look, there's a pimp-wave!" "Go, go! He's following us!" Cold Mtn. group, "Ugh, um, humm, well, you know-" Life's full of memories- these four years have added a bunch! Andrea and Nicola

Girls,

How do I ever sum up my thanks for all of you. These past four years have been a time I'll never forget. Lauren- I'll never forget our jokes and junior year chemistry. Andrea- All of our deep secrets and "the light." Burg- JV basketball, "focus." Megan- "Miss Spider," all the pointless nights, and especially Hair. Karen- All our deep talks and the jet ski incident. I'll never forget any of you. Love ya- Heather

To all my Band Buddies,

Well it's finally over! Four long years of band. Thanks for all the great memories. I know you all think I'm loud and annoying, but I only did it because I care. I wish you all the best of luck in the future! I'll be back, Love Always, Amber "Mouth" Rohe

Tiff and Co (A.K.A. Gas), We made it! It hasn't been easy, but it sure has been fun. I'm going to miss these crazy times. I can't sum up what you two mean to me in one caption. Tiff- I was thinking... that's just it. I was thinking. You're the only one who will listen to my stupid jokes and actually laugh. Thanks for the memories and laughs. Co- Falling off chairs, ice cream fight, and slapping wars I'll never forget. But, most of all thanks for the late night talks, and always caring. I'll never forget you. I love you guys dearly, Julie

Joel,
Thank you so much for all the memories and fun times. You are there for me through everything and I appreciate it so much. I'll always look up to you. I know you'll find success with everything you do. Always remember you will never fade from my heart and thoughts. Love, Dickson

Jessica and Layne,
Egging, cops, guys' soccer games, summer nights, dancing-crashes, singing-Selena, blizzard, homecoming, 311, soccer, blowpops, bang bang, men, whiplash driving, roses, Toys-R-Us, little sister, doorbell ditching, cones, nice house, ripples, GHAB. Through the laughter and the tears you guys have always been there for us. We love you guys! Kari and Mindy

To Paul,
I've never known anyone as much like me as you, Paul. This is probably why we got along so well (and "not so well"). This is scary because I know I'll never find anyone that knows me like you can. You are more than a boyfriend- you are a best friend. I love you, Brodikine

A Brief Thought for Trich,
Chase the chasey, crying, kaliedoscope, laughing, concerts (oh the concerts) Marker Park, Warren, Deffler, the amphitheater, Tony the Tiger, Starbucks, Red Rocks, jug of death, Mrs. Stones, 8th and Lipan, 13th Street, Warren, don't forget home movies, Baskin Robbins, or Derick, Ryan and John, or the hole and the cabin ceiling. The past is now a shadow, keep it in your heart- so when we're old eating nuts and smoking Virginia Slims, we can recap them all over and over again. Love, Anne Marie

Tough Guys,
These past four years have been filled with unforgettable memories-don't ever forget New Year's '97 and'98, Karen's BBQ's, JB's house, Young Life and camp, jet-skiing at Chatfield, Jam Park, Sweethearts '98, Championship Basketball games, and the list goes on. We're all glad we got the chance to know the real personalities in you, and in reality you are not that tough! Never forget us . . . The Girls

Noni,
Hey Sis, I thought you should know that these last years of H.S. were GREAT!! You've blossomed from a fearless tomboy to a beautiful, intelligent, kind, and strong-willed female. There are so many traits that you possess that I wish I could have, and it makes me glad to have you as my sister. I couldn't ask for anything better! Love your BIG SIS, Jessica

Dan Henry:
Shown here shortly after pulling out the "troops" for play-time. Dan, thanks for bringing in the Book of Questions and keeping us entertained all year. Your friendly smile kept us happy. Yeah for us and yeah for you!!! Thanks again, All of your pals

"The Boys,"
We made a lot of good memories. I will miss all of you and I wish the best of luck for you all. Boys for life!!! That will never die. I will never forget any of you and I hope that we all can make many more unforgettable memories in the future. BFL, Reb

Ryan,
So many memories, such little space! I'm going to miss you so much. I love you with all of my heart and soul. Thanks so much for supporting me in everything I've done and plan to do. Plus, accepting me for who I am. No matter what, I will always love you.
Mandy

Dora and Melissa,
Elementary, moles, "like a virgin," Mrs. Nelson's class, motor laugh, cat eyes, sidekick, 8th grade obsession, phone, rippled stomachs, Dora's legends and tales, coat, lunch table. Good times and bad times, you guys were always there for us. We helped each other through some tough times. We've had fun. We love you guys! Love, Kari and Mindy

Jeremy,
Wee-hee! Wow, Air-it-out tournament, October 7, October 8, and October 19 are holy days, topaz, 3lbs of cheese, The Rock. You, Jamhead, have been a true friend, given me confidence and hope. You bring sunshine with every step you take. I'm glad you took a chance and threw your arms around me.
Love, Jessie

To the Spice Girls,
We are the ultimate H.L. Dancers. Megan never attracts the weird ones! Pointless mall trips. Playing and gettin' our groove on in the basement! Take it to the bottle! 3rd Row was the best! He looked at us! Chasing boys down c-470! I love you guys and hope that we can continue to be so close! You all are going to go very far in life! All my love, Kelly "Wills"

Cheerios (Mickey),
We have been through lots together! For that and every other reason I love and thank you. You are forever my best friend! I'll never forget-Rainbow Bright, Washington, Greenwood, Spain, Melissa with a beard, hygiene problems, freezers, clowns, Vail, etc...We will forever make it through together!! God bless you!!! Love Always and Forever, Michelle (Minnie)

Jenny,
We have four years of memories we collected, so here it goes! Lake Powell, Las Vegas, Corn Pop, Dr. Pepper, Sprite, Lunchable, Pez, Steps, Red Swagger Butt, Lizard on a stick, Monkey Boy, Cotton Candy, Buddy, Whaaat, Rollercoaster of love! I'll never forget all our good times. Good luck in the future! Love ya like a sister! Whatever . . . Trevor! -Ang

Nathan,
My first love, you have stolen my heart and given me what no one else could. We've shared so many great memories: BRO, Alan, Summers' house, the car wash, and hopefully many more to come. Whatever obstacles we come to, we'll pull through together because "I wouldn't want it any other way." I LOVE YOU! Jaime

Girls,
It all started in second grade at GRE-never forget the Normandy incident, the Clement Park Incident, Spice Girls, "Kelly, lick the wine off the table," and dancing in Kelly's basement. Undsley- It started with grape jelly, moved to orange juice, and look what we have accomplished ten years later. You guys are the best friends anyone could wish for, and have taught me the meaning of true friendships. I love you all, Pee-Wee a.k.a.Lila

Queen Fairy,
You've been a great friend ever since Shaare. How about green mini-vans at 5mph? Remember Romeo and Juliet and Junior Prom? Thanks for being a sister to me.
Love, Jason
JC (Butta), Let's go to Incredible Universe and get some speakers, you driv'n the smurf home from baseball games? You're a brother and a friend to me. Love, Birdman

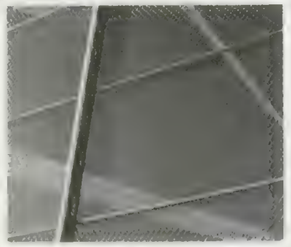
Maria, Skipper, Care Bear,
You all are truly my best friends. I'll never forget our times together since 4th grade on up. I will always have a place in my heart and a shoulder to cry on if it's needed! I love you all (like sisters). Thanks for all the good times. I'll never forget our everlasting friendships. Love always, (Carmen, Barbie) Dora

Chris,
Thank you for being there when I needed you and setting me straight. You've taught me a lot, even if you do like to fight. Nick-Fighting? Not us! Adolescent-2nd hour has been tons of fun. Luau here we come. Las Chicas-Lots of fun has been had. I owe you all. Everyone else-Thank you! Always, Jackie

Kristi-
Congratulations, you did it! You've been the best sister and friend ever-never forget that you're a smart and beautiful person. I've followed in your footsteps for 16 years and you've led me well. We have some great memories I'll never forget. Good luck in whatever you decide to do. Tell the college men hello!
Love, Beth

Grant~
Ryan~
Scott~
Mike~
Thanks for a great year of REBELBALL!!!

Brandon Bollerud,
What a kindhearted, wonderful young man you have become, remember that life lessons aren't learned in books, it's the caring, sharing and patience, along with other qualities you have and will develop that will endure. Don't follow anyone else's footsteps...leave your own. We love you and are so proud of you. Mom and Dad



...He opened his clenched fist. He was crushing a large pearl. It was a true pearl, taking on his heat and an ominous sickly glow. It had been a gift; how he had admired it. But upon examining it, he felt nothing and had the impulse to let it drop in the white water. A fleeting image of the giver filled him with unexpected nostalgia and he slid it into his vest pocket and let himself slide as well. -Patti Smith, The Coral Sea

Robert~ May you find Grace

Claudia Leonor Dudik,
Always believe in yourself, and with a positive attitude you can reach for the stars and make all your dreams come true. Congratulations with all your success and good luck in the future.
All our love, Dad, Mom and Alex

Nicole,
We have been through boyfriends and girlfriends, a rainbow of hair colors, and endless nights of talking over acid-coffee. We have gotten through long plays, nights of slide projection vision and huge puddles in the road. I will never forget you or forgive you for corrupting me, but I will love you forever my darling d.w.l.f.f.h. -Michele

Erica,
I will always remember the fun times we had together, like: football practice, making the video, three miles per hour, that moron of an army man, and Chilie's chuckles, Lycia driving, Romeo, "the kiss," Did that really happent Football, Ducks, the boyz-gotta love em. You'll always be in my heart! I love ya!

"Now People," never forget:
Shankin in the streets, the Eye of the Tiger- its the thrill of the fight, playing in puddles, vatos locos forever, matchmaker, C-C-Col, U-U-Umb..., "I've gotta pee," whip-cream fights, singing on the bus, spaghetti dinners, Mount Columbine, "Pimp-Daddy," freshmen, popsicles, Taxi Services, pasta at Chilie's, "kill the Chatfield runners," bicycles,bicycles. . .

"Now People," never forget:
. . . "here we go Rebels, here we go" our one fan James, injuries, injuries, injuries, capture the flag, kidnapping the guys, chinese food, the hill, 400's, 800's, 1000's, etc, chick-a-boom, Colorado Springs, Havens and Capra- We love you guys, oh yea- "Get that camera out of my face." It's been fun. Run hard, run strong, and keep laughing. We love you guys!
Love, Alicia and Meagan

Heidi, Angela, Cora, Lindsay, Crystalann, Lauren...
All of you have been an inspiration to me. Each of you are very special people...and I will miss you terribly. Don't forget to write. Your laughter and love will bring you the best. Keep searching for God, he looks for you. Run hard, run strong. Heidi-Heidi: The other cursed one. We have so many memories, from Clement Park camping to watching The Breakfast Club. Good luck to you and Jamie Lee and run fast!. . .

Angela: The little cheeser' will always be the best lunch for the best price. Cora: I know that one day we will find ourselves swinging at the Mercury with hot guys who know how to dance. It will happen! Lindsay: Did you remember your lunch money? Because we're going out to lunch today! Crystalann: You are a princess! And, someday your prince will find you. Never stop dreaming. Lauren: Pursing shall live forever as long as no scary, old men call the police or steal the purse. Love to all of you, Meagan

Pakistani Camel People:
So much has happened since we first met years ago in your squalid country. Memories of those days will stay with me always... who could forget goat milking in the street and masquerading with Mama Carlota. Thank you for everything. I will never forget you.
Always, S.H

Erika Lynn,
You are my sister and heart and soul. We have done everything together, and have the best memories ever. We have had our good and bad times, and have laughed and cried, but through it all, you have always been my best friend and the sister I never had. If you ever need anything at all, never hesitate to ask. I love you, Britt

Britt,
I never thought the homey in my freshman math class would become one of my best friends. We've had a lot of fun, even though we're always late getting there! I hope managing the future will be as fun as managing the store. You're a great leader, and don't ever think any differently. Love, A.J.

Adelina, Admit it! I'm still your dream date, aren't I? I had to dedicate something to the only person I know who paints poetry on her walls and loses cue cards in very strange places. Chin up and chest out when you face the world! Otto

Justin,
I will never forget you! Thank you for always being there for me! I love you, I love you! I am nothing without you! Who can forget the time I laughed so hard noodles shot out of your nose!!! I love you, I love you!! You have made me what I am! I endeavor to be you, not just like you, but actually you! This dead frog is our relationship! Let us dissect it and cherish it always! Love always, Hilda

Alysia,
Through good times and bad there are so many memories. Lunch box boy, Mr. Green (haha) rock on! Mix tapes, dancin', college boys, B.K., well almost, signature, drumsticks, Red Robin (Jim, Gabe, Chad), Color-guard (good and bad) and never forget the beast!!! That girl at school. Love, April

Otto,
What an inspiration you've been (Well, maybe not you so much, but your t-shirt and sweatshirt collection). Ole Svenson changed my life. Thank you for definitions, spelling corrections, and delightful witticisms. As for eternity, your hairbrush and earrings will Rest-In-Peace under the passenger seat in my Mazda. Caley

Mr F,

Thank you for being such a loving, caring, warm and fuzzy guy. We're sorry for attacking you with those baseball bats... regardless, the leg looks like it'll heal in good time. T's dog will find you and sign your cast. We will remember you with a pie in your face and a crutch in hand. Thank you,
Your Happy Little Campers

Mr. Sneddon,

The 1998 yearbook staff would like to thank you for coming in and helping us out during our time of need. We would also like to express our appreciation to you for supporting us every year by purchasing a yearbook. Thanks again Mr. Sneddon, you will always be welcome in the Pub.
~1998 Yearbook Staff

Alicia,
We've made a great team these last three years in the pub. Your friendship has meant more to me than I've been able to show. I confess- I don't know your hopes, your goals, your dreams... it never crossed my mind to ask. I realize now that this was my mistake. There is only one thing left for me- not knowing your dreams gives me the unique ability to believe in them with all my heart. So I give you that, and wish you well... Thank you for all of it. Caley

All the James Bonds,
Thanks for making my last season the greatest. It was definitely the most fun I've had in my four years. You have given me memories that I will cherish for the rest of my life. And even though Arapahoe got to celebrate, I will always remember you as champions!
Always a friend,
Eric Van Deman

Mrs. J: We missed you in the Pub this year, but don't worry, we managed to survive with our crippled friend Mr. F. I hope you survived your Pub-withdrawl. Thanks for caring so much about us and what we do. Your ability to see the beauty in everyone has inspired us to do the same. Never forget our moments in the Pub (including the Beatles). There will always be room on the couch (and in our hearts) for you.

Thanks for everything,
Alicia and Caley

Megs,
Thanks for so much! We've had so many good times together: sleepovers, kidnappings, pursing, downtown, Chinese, track, cross country, yearbook, and everything else—even being cursed. You've been such an encouragement to me and an inspiration in my life—I'll miss you so much.
Love, Heidi

1998 Pubbers,
Thanks for all your hard work and for making this year the best yet in the pub. Remember fun meters, BERTHA-may she rest in peace, the book of questions, cripples, and M(insert vowel here)nger. May the Pub remain eternally cluttered and those who dwell there eternally grab-bagged. Next year charge a fine to pass through the pub. Thank you all, Your Loving Eds

To my Two "Sisters,"
Liza: I love you chick- mostly 'cause I have to- but you know- Beth: Well, I love you too, you know you're almost my sister. We have lots of memories- boys, church, RAFFLES, Paris, Taco Bell, retreats, HOMECOMING, dances, concerts, I'm sure you remember them all. I'm sure there will be many more- EUROPE. Love, Jess

Havens,

Never forget capture the flag and all the blood that comes with it, chick-a-boom on the bus, "Now people, pump your arms," pizza, pop, and dancing at Coronado, Second and third place finishes at Smoky Hill, and being king of the cart. Your inspiration and encouragement has carried us far. We admire your new outlook on life and coaching, it really made the season the best ever. Feel free to use your punching gloves on Capra if he starts to act silly (which we know he will).
Thanks again, Alicia, Meagan, and Kathy

Capra,

Your craziness has made cross country worth the pain we all suffered from running up the hill and listening to Havens' speeches. We will never forget your good advice and your uplifting smile. Your confidence in us has allowed us to suceed and have fun along the way. Keep off those golf carts and drink your Juice Stop, but never forget us (your favorite chicks),
Megs, Kath, and Leash

Debbie~
"The night is young and you're so beautiful. B flat." Hey women! I'll never forget my third year of girl's camp, and us reciting Robin Hood for everyone! We drove the Leaders up a wall! You'll always be the best friend I ever had! Thanx for being there always! Remember me.
Love always, Alfred A.K.A. Alison

Alli,
From Hawaii, where our true friendship began- you are the best roommate ever! I love Pop Tarts. The crab incident at Wendy's, banging on the ceiling with chairs, "Paradise," and rice will always stay with me. I'm just glad that everyone's all right- oops- spoke too soon! Good luck in all you do. Send me on my way!
Love always, Kimmy

To Otto,
Remember that not all movies need a plot. There are no Klingons chasing you and cherry brain-freezies are the best kind.
Love, Sara

Lindz ~
Through thick and thin you have always been there for me, and without your support I probably wouldn't have made it through the year. You have brought joy into my life when I needed it the most, and I couldn't have asked for anything more. I thank you for all that you have taught me, and I wish you the very best in your pursuits for happiness and success.
Love always, Taleen

Hey Campers - I'm glad to say that all the rumors I heard about you guys and this class were true. You are an incredible group of thoughtful, dedicated, imaginative and caring students. I walked into this class with very little knowledge and even less experience. I limped out having learned an awful lot about why everyone had spoken so highly of you. Your confidence and creativity made my job easy, and for that I can't thank you enough. I wish you all the success each one of you deserves. Keep in touch. - Mr. Friesen

Underclassmen Dedications

Hey You Guys,
Are you down with the Wu? Echin-Drivers ed and catching goldfish, oh yea. Ostereo- Clubs and stalking were fun! Gimmie green beans! K- Think I'll fix my reed- if only you could work the seatbelts. Michelle- Hey stupid, yo! Always remember Poe, Boblalicious, cute-ugly boy, Nick and all the others! Love ya'll, Your Faithful Slayer, Buffy

Gina,
Lately all we can think about is how much we will miss you. We only wish things could have been better. But no matter how far you are we will always be here for you and we will never stop being your friends. We hope you have lots of fun in Grand Junction. Love always, Evan and Nicole

Jo, Beth, Aim, Em and Lins (the Breck crowd with one exception), I've thought of a new POW; 6 chicks in a condo, how many brown boots can they pimp! For a year full of new experiences and surpises and unsought dreams (Beth-Red Rocks! Lins-Hollywood Legends!) It's been Great! (Joking- Bring back memories!) Your best guy friend, AM

Lisa, "A smile costs nothing but gives much. It enriches those who receive it, without making poorer those who give. It takes but a moment, but the memory of it lasts forever." My best friend and sunshine, your unrelentless smiles have always brightened my dreary days. I will always remember you with a smile and a compassionate heart. Love always, Kelli

Hola Amigos!
Como si! Emily, hey chica! You're the greatest, don't forget and then we wake up! To Sabrina, Gunther Toody's forever! I hear Karaoke calling! And, of course, Alex! Remember, "I'm gonna regulate on you Jenny!" I love you guys! Have the best summer ever! We're seniors!! Love always, Casey

My campaigner group,
My friends, idols and life-long friends, you listened while I sent my problems whirling out into the wind waiting to be caught and solved. You were always there. You helped provide the light when the trail became too bleak and stressful for me to solve. I will cherish our times together! Thank you! Love, Angela

"HI" to all my friends! I love you and miss you! Don't forget about me, I'll see ya soon! Love, Amalia "I'll be missing you" Hey you Aussies: We admire and cherish you. You will be forever imprinted in our hearts and will continue to be with us in our long journey out of high school, into the real world. Love, your CHS friends

Lynsey and Lora,
I'm glad we've been such good friends. Thanks for helping me through the hardest times in my life and for being there to share secrets with. It was fun from beginning to end. So, don't forget dillweed, peaches, bubbles, giggles, hazelnut, nibbles, green, tenderheart, and spunge. This summer is going to be sooo ... much fun! Love, Melanie

To: Fab Five
Heeey Yooou Guuuuuys! From Sla love Chunk to "I swear we're in Hatchet!" (followed by a trip through the carwash) it's been interesting to say the least, ay? I'd be lost without you guys and we both know that I'm pretty lost anyways! I love you guys! Love, Beer

Kelli,
My best friend and confidante. Thank you for always being there for me when I needed you the most. The memories we have shared together will be with me now and forever. No matter where life takes us both, I'll never forget the person who stood by my side. Just remember: Keep smiling, keep shining. Love, Lisa

Hey girls!
Thanks so much for all the fun times! Young Life, campaigners, cross country and track were all a blast! Cora- thanks for all the laughs- you make things so interesting! Crystal Ann- forensics was awesome despite the bill thing, Vmm Bop (yuck)! and scary people. Thanks for everything darling! Angela- Your persistence is inspiring, you find good in everything (even bad movies)! You guys mean so much to me! Love, Heidi

D,
I will never forget June 22, 1997 when we acknowledged our love; or July 15, 1997 (8:17 pm). I don't regret anything in our relationship. I know sometimes we have ups and downs, but one thing that will never change is my love for you, and yours for me. I love you forever, -Z

Zack, Hey waz up!?
This year has been the best of my life. From eternity and beyond, to a place where time can't touch us. You are the greatest, the pick of the litter. Sixty words can't express what you mean to me. Just je taime, je taime, je taime, je taime! Princess D

Dutch Creek Outdoor Lab Leaders,
There is no way to sum up the week we had. the kids, the learning, the fun, the experience. We were their teachers, their idols, their elders. We made their week fun and showed them that school has its good sides. Thanks for the skit and for the enjoyable working environment you provided. Angela

Kay-rae, Martini, and Linneus,
this has been some year, hasn't it my prettiest Our friendship is incredible because you guys are. Lunch and Mr. A are eternal, and therefore, our friendship is too. You guys listened to my stories like no one else (wonder why!) and that means more than anything. Thanks for being there. You guys kill me! Allisaki

> I decline to accept the end of man . . . I refuse to accept this, I believe that man will not merely endure: he will prevail. He is immortal, not because he alone among creatures has an inexhaustible voice, but because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance.

> Do you know what the stars are? They are silver dust of God's blessing. They are little broken-off bits of heaven. God cast them down to fall on us. But when he saw how wicked we were, he changed his mind and ordered the stars to stop. Which is why they hang in the sky but seem as though at any time they might drop . . .
